

CHECK OKLAHOMA DRAFT RESISTANCE

One Leader Killed Another Captured and 25 Members Prisoner

OUTLAWS SCATTERED

Objectors Broken Up Into Small Bands and Further Success Believed Impossible

SECURE LEADERS' NAMES

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Aug. 4.—With one of their leaders dead, another captured and at least 25 members captured, posse leaders tonight were of the opinion the backbone of the rising of the outlaws near Rocky Point, died a short time later. Three others beside Cargill were said to have been captured. Sheriff Grall on his drive southwest of Wewoka captured an armed man giving the name of Boggs, said to be a leader of the outlaw forces. A lynching narrowly was averted. Other arrests are reported, although names are not given of the men taken into custody. The base of operations from which different posses are working was established tonight a mile north of Lone Dove, when a detachment of national guard members under the leadership of former Adjutant General Frank M. Canton and not acting as a state unit are camped. In federal district court here today the demurrer to the indictments of the eleven alleged members of the "Jones family," an anti-draft organization, was overruled. Bail in each case was fixed at $7,500. Trial will be in mid-September. The discomforts of the searchers for the government's enemies were heightened during the day by the report that any food or water taken at the homes of the outlaws would be poisoned. From prisoners the name of virtually every leader has been ascertained. These call themselves captains and are distinguished by a brilliant red sash. The rebels appeared to be amply supplied with ammunition although their fire arms are of every conceivable pattern. It is believed that no activities of the objectors in this state, most of whom are said to belong to the Working Class Union, but some being enrolled in the "Jones family," a band with a similar purpose, and the I. W. W. are but a part of a nationally spread propaganda to resist service in the army. Federal authorities here declare the movement has been widespread, but has been so loosely organized that quick failure was bound to be the outcome. So far no troops have been sent into the affected districts. Governor R. L. Williams in a statement late today declared: "I won't send troops until I see fire from this smoke."

RECOGNIZES SECOND ILLINOIS ARTILLERY

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 4.—Adjutant General Dickson received notice from Washington that the war department had recognized second Illinois field artillery, formerly the first cavalry and that the work of mustering them into federal service would begin at once. The three batteries at East St. Louis will be mustered in there instead of at Springfield as was previously announced. The Peoria, Urbana and Springfield batteries which mustered in at their home stations. Company A of Peking commanded by Captain Schuyler C. Scribner and Company K of Delavan, commanded by Captain Chester E. Inskip, Fifth Illinois Infantry arrived at the state fair grounds late today to be mustered into federal service. Other companies of the regiment will be mustered in at their home stations.

REPORTS I. W. W. A SERIOUS MENACE

Butte, Mont., Aug. 4.—United States District Attorney B. K. Wheeler reported to Washington today that the I. W. W. are a direct and serious menace in the northwest especially in Western Montana lumber camps.

FRANCE STRONGER THAN ANY TIME DURING WAR

Andre Tardieu Gives Cheering Message To Americans

Statement Contains Stunning Figures as to Men, Guns and Money France Has Contributed to the War. WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—France is stronger today in fighting men and war materials than any time during the war despite three years of terrific combat of which the greatest share among the allies has fallen to the French armies. This is the cheering message to the American people given tonight by Andre Tardieu, high commissioner of France in the United States in a message to Secretary Baker. His statement contains stunning figures as to the men, guns and money that France has contributed to the war. It breathes the spirit of confidence and high courage that still animates the nation and asserts without hesitation that the United States is to aid in striking the last blow at the foe. Secretary Baker pays high compliment to the spirit of France in his brief reply. American officers are unanimous, he says, in their praise of the splendid courage and military efficiency of the French people. "Now that America has begun to contribute soldiers and material to this war," says the secretary, "it will be well for our people to have the story you have told, in order that we may realize that our army is going to share the imperishable glory which belongs to the soldiers of France and her allies." M. Tardieu says in his statement, that there are today nearly three million French troops in the zone of the armies alone, exclusive of those in the zone of the interior and the colonies. That is a million more men than were used to stem the German flood tide at the Marne and the greatest number France has ever mustered in the fighting zone. The commissioner adds that the force can be maintained for a long time to come. He shows that French "definitive casualties" in killed and prisoners have dropped from 5.41 per cent of all mobilized forces at the battle of the Marne to 1.28 percent during the last six months of 1916; that France is holding 574 kilometers of the 739 kilometers on the western front and that her troops in June of this year were facing 81 of the 123 German divisions concentrated on that line. As to guns the commissioner shows that French armies have had an ample supply of the famous seventy five from the first and that her 300 heavy guns in August, 1914, had increased to 6,009 in June, 1917, giving one heavy gun for every twenty six meters of the French offensive front this year. Including all field and trench guns he said there is a gun for every eight meters in the sector of attack. To feed the seventy-five, the daily output of shells has risen from 13,000 in 1914 to a quarter of a million today and 100,000 projectiles for the heavy guns are supplied each day in addition. During the last offensives a total weight of projectiles averaging 1,442 kilograms, about 1 1/2 tons was hurled into every line meter of the German trenches assaulted and 12,000,000 shells of all calibers were expended by the French guns. In addition to all this France completely re-occupied and re-armed the Belgian, Serbian and Greek armies and furnished 800 heavy guns to her allies. On the financial side, the tables show that France has expended $2,647,000,000 francs (nearly $16,000,000,000) since the war began. During the war she received from foreign countries 6,000,000,000 francs and loaned to several of her allies 4,000,000,000 francs. DECLARE CONFIDENCE IN PREMIER KERENSKY PETROGRAD, Aug. 4.—The political conference at the winter palace ended at six o'clock this morning when each of the five parties represented passed a resolution declaring its confidence in Premier Kerensky and inviting him to form his own cabinet. Four of the resolutions declared that a new cabinet should adhere to the program of reform and consolidation issued by Premier Kerensky on July 21, but the constitutional democrats made no mention of the program they continue to oppose. Premier Kerensky's decision has not yet been received. The conference which probably will be a great factor in determining the fate of Russia was attended by the entire cabinet with the exception of Premier Kerensky. Before debate began M. Nekrasoff, who presided said that the latest breach in the Russian front may have serious consequences, but probably the enemy advance will be stopped.

ADOPT "EVERY STUDENT AN ATHLETE" POLICY

PEORIA, Ill., Aug. 4.—"Every student an athlete" will be the policy of Little 19 minor college conference of Illinois during the next college year, according to F. C. Brown of Bradley Institute, president of the state association. "I believe every institution in the conference will resume sports this fall," said President Brown today. "We intend to follow the policy advocated by Secretary of War Baker. Several of our schools have adopted military training and in connection with our annual track and field games next year we will hold a competitive military meet. Military exercises will also be held in connection with all our football games next fall."

RESISTERS FACE COURT MARTIAL

Execution for Desertion In Time of War A Possibility

CONSTRUCTION OF LAW

Men Failing To Appear Before Boards Will Be Posted As Selected

TO REDUCE APPLICATIONS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—Registered men who resist the selective draft law face military court martial for desertion and the possibility of execution for desertion in time of war. The whole military and civil power of the federal government, cities and counties will be employed to bring them to book. Crowder Issues Statement This was announced in a formal statement tonight by Brig Gen Enoch Crowder, provost marshal general, in response to reports from North Carolina, Georgia and Oklahoma of anti-draft disturbances. As yet the power of the federal government has not been invoked by the governors of the three states nor by the agents of the department of justice. The only official notice received in Washington of the disturbances was a telegram from the governor of North Carolina saying that the registered men of two townships in that state might refuse in a body to comply with the summons for examination. No official word came from Oklahoma, where the most serious situation prevails. It was believed the governor, both in his official state capacity and as the direct agent of the president in the execution of the draft law is confident that order can be restored without military aid. There will be no hesitation however, in employing federal troops if they are needed. Gives Construction of Law General Crowder's statement was formulated after a conference with department of justice officials. In the construction of the selective conscription law, registered men who do not appear for examination will be posted to the district boards as selected for military service as soon as the five day period allowed them to put in an appearance after they have been summoned, has elapsed. Two days more will elapse after their names reach the district board to await appeal action by the individual. They will then be posted to the adjutant general of the state as selected to fill the quotas of their district. Orders for the mobilization of the selected men will be given some time during the present month. If the resister fails to obey that order he will be set down as absent without leave and the machinery of the army will be set in motion to bring him in. In addition, all state and municipal police authorities and United States marshals will be used to apprehend him. When it is clear that he is wilfully absenting himself with no intention of reporting to the army a charge of desertion will be placed against him. From that time on, any civil officer who arrests him will earn a reward of $50. Only President Can Intervene I found guilty by court martial for desertion the individual may be sentenced to death and only the president can save him from punishment. General Crowder said men in Oklahoma and elsewhere are acting under a delusion fostered by agitators that they are conducting a political campaign against the draft whereas the time for that passed when the registration was completed. As to those who are aiding or abetting the resisters the situation is different. While the government will make no effort to bring in men who do not obey the local selection boards, it will use every energy to stamp out disorders designed to prevent the execution of the federal laws. For the purpose the president has legal power to employ the army in any state without reference to the state authorities. In practice, however, such a step would not be taken unless the governors asked for military forces to restore order. They would be furnished promptly by department commanders without red tape or delay. To Give Names to Newspapers General Crowder also took action today to reduce the number of applications for exemption, which news reports indicate are being filed. In a telegram to all governors he directed that local boards be instructed to furnish to newspapers hereafter from day to day, names of all registered men who apply for exemption, the grounds asserted to support such claim and the action taken by the board. In cases of discharge for physical disqualifications.

CHICAGO PAYS HOMAGE TO MEN CALLED BY DRAFT

Through Cheers Men As They File Thru Downtown Section

Col. Nicholson, Commandant at Fort Sheridan, Leads Parade of 22,700 Soldiers, Sailors and Civilians—Russian Mission in Reviewing Stand Chicago, Aug. 4.—Public homage was paid by Chicago today to its new selective army. A parade in which marched 22,700 soldiers, sailors and civilians was witnessed by a throng that cheered the men as they filed thru the downtown business section. Colonel William J. Nicholson, commandant at Fort Sheridan, led the parade, being followed by 4,100 students at the Fort Sheridan officers' training camp, more than 10,000 men called by the draft, 6,000 national guardsmen, 2,000 aliens and foreign born citizens and 600 police and firemen. Several bands, among them the Great Lakes Training Station band under the leadership of Lieutenant John Philip Sousa, furnished inspiring music. In the reviewing stand were Major General Thomas H. Barry, commanding the central department of the United States army, the members of the Russian war mission, visiting here. So inspired was General Barry at the sight of the marching men that before he left the stand he issued a statement in which he said: "Chicago or no other city in the United States or the world ever witnessed a finer sight than this parade of young American manhood without a slacker in the bunch. God bless the selected men, their leaders, the training camp men—and woe befall those whom they go up against on the other side."

PREPARED TO TAKE DRASTIC ACTION

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—The Illinois State Council of Defense is prepared to take drastic action to force a lowering of coal prices in the state according to information received today. What its plans are will not be revealed until the campaign for cheaper fuel is started next week, it was announced. The council today made formal request upon the department of justice agents for all information they have obtained in the federal inquiry into the fuel situation. The data obtained will be sent to other state councils of defense in neighboring states who are co-operating with the Illinois committee in seeking a solution of the fuel problem.

MAJOR HOFFMAN KILLS WIFE

Boston, Mass., Aug. 4.—Major William Hoffman, U. S. A. retired, shot and killed his wife with a revolver today and then turned the weapon on himself, dying instantly. The shooting took place in the Hoffman home. Police officials were unable to determine the reason for the act. Major Hoffman was 78 years old.

STATE INTERVENTION IN STRIKE IMPENDING

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 4.—State intervention in the street railway strike here is impending as the result of the action of the strikers union requesting Barney Cohen director of the state labor department to have the situation investigated by the state industrial commission. Members of the commission already here say that word is awaited from Mr. Cohen, now in Chicago, calling the commission together. A. D. Mackie, general manager of the railway company in refusing to agree to arbitration by the commission, said today that the company is standing on its legal rights and that the state cannot take any action so long as the company can operate its cars on regular schedule. "Cars are running regularly during the day," he said, "and we are prepared to run them at night whenever the sheriff rescinds his order prohibiting their operation after 6:30 each evening." HOPE FOR EARLY ACTION ON BILL WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—Although there were indications that the senate would not propose to adopt the conference report on the administration food control bill without further debate, leaders were hopeful tonight that the measure may be in the president's hands before the end of the next week. Attack upon the conference report was opened today by Senator Reed in a two hour speech, which he concluded by stating that he had "just begun" his remarks. The senate recessed at the conclusion of his address until Monday when he is expected to resume. The Missouri senator renewed his criticism of Herbert Hoover, prospective food administrator and deplored action of congress generally and the food bill conference in particular for erasing under the official lash. Senator Chamberlain of Oregon, in charge of the bill for the administration, declared the country is demanding immediate action.

PERFECT PLANS FOR HUGE PICTURE PLANT

PARIS, Aug. 4.—The signal corps of the United States army has perfected plans for the establishment in France of a huge plant for developing and printing motion and still pictures. From the plant, which is expected eventually to become one of the largest of its kind in the world, will be issued the photographs which are to form a historical record of America's participation in the war. Within a week it will begin giving out photographs for use in American newspapers.

DISCONTINUE WIRELESS SERVICE

New York, Aug. 4.—Trans-Atlantic wireless service between the United States, Canada and Great Britain has been discontinued until further notice. The step was taken in "conformity with instructions received from the British government and is purely a necessary war measure," a statement tonight by the Marconi company said.

ROOT HAS ABIDING FAITH IN RUSSIA

Professes Sincere Admiration for Russian People

Head of Returned U. S. Mission Pleads for Deep Sympathy for the Nation, Which He Declares Will Create a Free Governing Democracy. A Pacific Port, Aug. 4.—"I have abiding faith that Russia, thru trial and tribulation will work out, create and perpetuate a free governing democracy," Elihu Root asserted today in an impassioned speech at a luncheon in honor of the return of the American mission from Russia. Professes a sincere admiration for the kindly character of the Russian people, who, he said, possessed a "high capacity for self-control and a noble idealism." Mr. Root pleaded for deep sympathy for the nation, "which is struggling with the problems that we have been studying for 140 years and have not yet solved." "America must muster its manhood with democracy against autocracy," he said. "In the end will rise a great free country, re-made in the spirit of our fathers, competent to accomplish its divine mission and carry liberty and justice thruout the world." Basil Solodatenko Koff, special envoy of the Russian government, expressed the gratitude of the new republic for the help and sympathy extended to it by America. Pays Tribute to People. James Duncan, vice-president of the American Federation of Labor, after paying high tribute to the behavior of the Russian people during the past months, declared earnestly: "The workingmen of America are back of the president and the government. The fight now is between Democracy and autocracy." Major General Hugh L. Scott, chief of staff of the United States army, said the American army that is to be sent to France will go better equipped, officered and cared for than any previous American army has ever been on going into battle. PROVIDES FOR SEMI-PERMANENT CAMPS WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—Provision for building semi-permanent cantonments at national guard training camp sites, it was learned today is included in the army deficiency bill recently submitted to congress. Whether all present camp sites are to be continued in this way presumably has not been decided. The provision was inserted, as were similar provisions for equipment, pay and other items, to cover possible organization of the second 500,000 of the national army provided for in the selective conscription bill. The items covering the building of sixteen additional cantonments making up the thirty-two such training cities originally planned, are included in the estimates of more than $88,000,000 for barracks and quarters and more than $17,000,000 for such purposes as roads and sewers. MAY CALL 2,000 MEN TO SECURE QUOTA OF 293 BURLINGTON, Ia., Aug. 4.—A member of the local exemption board for Des Moines county stated today that it will be necessary to summon for examination several hundred additional registered men in order that this county's quota of 293 for the draft army may be raised. It may be necessary to call 2,000 men in all. To date 356 men have been examined, 89 passed with no claim for exemption, 170 additional passed but claim exemption and 90 failed to pass the physical test. The passed, with no claim, represent one out of four men examined but many of those will file claims for exemption before the district board on various grounds. How many exemptions will be allowed cannot be estimated. FORECAST BUMPER CORN CROP FOR MISSOURI COLUMBIA, Mo., Aug. 4.—Missouri's corn crop, estimated at 230,000,000 bushels, will be about 90,000,000 bushels in excess of that of last year according to the monthly crop report issued here today by the state board of agriculture. The condition was placed at eighty six, two points less than a month ago and compared with 57.2 a year ago. The forecast was for 27.9 bushels to the acre. The report places the wheat yield for the state at twenty-three million bushels or eight million more than the total a year ago. The oats crop was placed at a total of thirty-nine million bushels or fourteen million more than last year. CALLES RESIGNS AS GOVERNOR OF SONORA NOGALES, Ariz., Aug. 4.—P. Elias Calles, governor of Sonora, Mexico, has resigned and his resignation accepted by the legislature elected recently according to a statement made here today by Adolfo de Latorre, former governor of Sonora, who came here on his way to Mexico City by way of Laredo, Texas. Calles, it was reported, will remain as military commander of Sonora and possibly the division of the northwest. PLAYS WITH DYNAMITE; KILLED OTTAWA, Ill., Aug. 4.—Playing with a stick of dynamite was fatal today to Cyril Withington, aged 13, of LaSalle, Ill. His brother was injured. A third boy escaped without injury.

REITERATES WAR AIMS OF ALLIES

Lloyd George Declares German Ambitions for Conquest Are Checked

ADDRESSES MEETING

Premier Declares Germans Must Learn Full Meaning of Word Restoration

CHALLENGES GOOD FAITH

LONDON, Aug. 4.—Premier David Lloyd-George, just returned from entente allied conferences speaking today at a great patriotic meeting in the Queens Hall to mark the third anniversary of the war declared that German ambitions for world conquest had been checked and that before Great Britain enters a peace conference the Germans must learn the full meaning of the word restoration. Challenges Kaiser's Good Faith. Challenging the good faith of the German emperor and Chancellor Michaelis, in their peace talk which he denounced as a subterfuge for the Prussian war lords to gain time for the next time, the premier shouted: "There must be no next time! Don't let us repeat this horror! Let us make victory so complete that national liberty, whether for great nations or for small nations, can never be challenged. "The nations of the world have been climbing painfully up the steps that lead to national independence and self respect * * * and now comes a great power with brute force to thrust the nations back crushed and bleeding into the chasm of servitude. That is what we have been fighting." Replies to Kaiser's Assertion. Replying to the German emperor's assertion that Germany is carrying on a defensive war, Premier Lloyd-George said: "He knows that is untrue. Who ever wanted to invade Germany? Even now neither he nor his new chancellor says they will be satisfied with German soil. "They talk glibly of peace but stutter when they come to the word 'restoration.' It has not yet crossed their lips in its entirety." Pointing to the soldiers in the audience, the premier declared they are gradually curing the Kaiser of his sluttishness. Have Not Abandoned Ambitions. "Do they mean peace when they talk it?" The premier asked. He had followed every line they had uttered, watched their newspapers and "the truth is, the Prussian war lords have not yet abandoned their ambitions. They are not discussing that. They are only discussing the postponement of those ambitions." After describing the Pan-German dream of world conquest, he asked: "What would have happened in America? The Monroe doctrine would have been treated like any other scrap paper. We know her ambitions in South America. Not a year after the termination of this peace would have elapsed before she would have started realising those ambitions, and America would have been helpless. America Realizes Action. "The allied powers from the first moment felt instinctively that a great menace to human liberty had appeared on the horizon and without delay all accepted the challenge. America fully realizes why we did so and she is with us for that reason." At the conclusion of the premier's speech the meeting passed unanimously a resolution recording "its inflexible determination to continue to the maintenance of those ideas of liberty and justice which are the common and sacred cause of the allies."

THE FRANKING PRIVILEGE.

Since economy, like charity, begins at home, our representatives at Washington have a fine chance to begin this work of saving by making some change in the law which permits their use of the mail franking privilege. A report just made in a house committee investigation shows that seven tons of mail matter are sent out every day under the franking privilege. The country would be just as well off in information if half of this matter was never sent at all, and would be much richer in dollars if postage was paid on the other half.

DOCUMENTARY PROOF
CONDEMNS KAISER.

Announcement that the U. S. has indisputable evidence that Germany had possession of Austria's ultimatum to Serbia fourteen hours before it was delivered to Belgrade, has not created a remarkable sensation in this country. Despite the Kaiser's repeated denials that his country was not responsible for the war declaration and has no previous knowledge of Austria's intention, the world at large has always doubted the truth of that assertion.

In fact the events soon after the war began and then in succeeding months and years, gave proof that the war was really of Germany's planning, to carry out the Kaiser's dream of a world dominion. Now the documentary evidence has been found to prove that the world was right in holding this opinion. The evidence is interesting and satisfying, but there was no great sensation or shock because the world knew it was only a question of time until this evidence would be unearthed.

RURAL MAIL SERVICE

Representative Charles C. Kearns of Ohio believes a limit should be set by Congress on the length of rural free delivery routes established by the Post Office department. For a horse drawn vehicle Mr. Kearns believes that a 24-mile be the maximum, and for a motor vehicle a length of 50 miles should not be exceeded. He holds that the department pursues a mistaken policy when it undertakes to combine short routes into one long motor route, as in his county particularly, there are many routes that cannot be used by automobiles during three or four months in the year. A horse drawn vehicle is the only method that can be relied upon on those roads, and the patrons strenuously object to any change that will take away any of the facilities that they now have.

A POINT FOR THE PRESIDENT.

In the current issue of Life is a political article supposedly written at some future date and in semi-humorous vein. But in the paragraph which tells of an announcement made by President Wilson of cabinet changes, the humorous gives place to the logical and practical. The appointments suggested in this deft way that President Wilson could wisely make include:

Secretary of State—Ellhu Root.
Secretary of War—Leonard Wood.
Secretary of the Navy—G. W. Goethals.
Secretary of Labor—Henry Ford.

HONORS FOR DRAFTED MEN.

Chicago people turned out by thousands Saturday to honor the men in the first draft in the new national army. It was a national army day parade, arranged under the direction of the Chicago preparedness conference. Many business houses closed and the streets were thronged with patriotic people as the drafted men passed by. It was a fitting recognition for these men who have answered the call of their country, made thru the draft measure. People have come to realize that the men who willingly meet the conditions of the new conscription law deserve just as much honor as those who have volunteered. There was an early attempt to give the volunteers some preference but now it is understood that all men in the army will be upon the same footing. The national army day program of Chicago sets a good example for the smaller cities. This week the names of the Morgan county men chosen from the first draft will be known, and it is not too much to expect that citizens here will plan some demonstration in honor of these new soldiers.

THE OLD BRONZE BUTTON—AND THE NEW.

The Peoria Journal voices this opposition to the use of a bronze button to indicate men exempt from service. The Civil war veteran respects his little bronze button—and all Americans respect it. It denotes that the wearer was in the great army which united bravery, skill, daring, privation and sacrifice in winning what was up to that time the greatest of wars. The little bronze button means that the man who wears it on his coat lapel has served in the great army which banished slavery, brought two separate sections of the country together as one, and upheld the constitution and the original aims of the founders of our nation.

We have learned to love the little bronze button. We unconsciously want to tip our hat to the stooped, shouldered, gray haired man who wears it. We would show the greatest of favors to the aged man who earned the right to have it. It means much more than any lodge insignia, it means much more than a society emblem, and it means much more than membership in any select organization—it means patriotism, sacrifice and service for one's country at a time when service meant much. Perhaps it means sickness brought about by wounds or the privations of army life. Perhaps it means blindness which developed from a wound received in battle. Perhaps it means deafness which resulted from a charge of shrapnel or a bursting shell.

And now comes another little bronze button. According to a story in the Journal yesterday one of the new bronze buttons is to be given to each registered man who is exempted from army service. The new little bronze button has the word "Exempt" where the old bronze button had testimony of long, dangerous, self-sacrificing, patriotic service.

It might be all right to give each of the exempted men a button—but we can't favor a bronze button.

Exemptions will be necessary and men having just grounds for exemption should be exempted. Married men, men needed in special industries, men disqualified on account of physical unfitness, men having people dependent upon their physical or mental labors—these men should be exempted.

But why not give them a button made out of something else than the good old bronze which we have so long associated with the Civil war veteran's badge?

Sentiment? Yes. But who would not be sentimental occasionally?

Rippling Rhymes
By WALT MASON

EMMA GOLDMAN.

All day long fair Emma sits in her little whitewashed cell; for a time she'll throw no fits, urging hobos to rebel. For a time she'll boost no cause, and she will de-nounce no foes; and her gutta serena jaws will enjoy an earned repose. In the palmy days of peace she went shrieking o'er the plain saying government should cease and that anarchy should reign. When the dove of peace is near, floating on its downy wings, we don't care what rot we hear, and we grin at Emma's flings. When the sword is in its sheath, and we are not called to fight, foolish freaks may grind their teeth, cussing everything in sight. All the cranks may whoop and rant, with their whiskers wet with foam, may for wreck and ruin paint, till the brindled crows come home. When the sounds of war arise, and the tide of battle rolls, all the cranks, if they were wise, would proceed to hunt their holes. In a time of blood and fire, when the youth to battle fares, all the windsniffs should retire to their divers mouldy lairs. Emma thought she'd rant and yell just as in the times of peace; in her little whitewashed cell she is using elbow grease.

MISS MATTHEWS BECOMES
BRIDE OF DR. GREGORY

Ceremony Said Saturday by Dr. F. S. Hayden With Only Relatives Present.

The guests at the wedding of Dr. A. R. Gregory and Miss Mabel Matthews were almost as much surprised Saturday evening as their friends will be today by the announcement. The ceremony took place about 8 o'clock Saturday night at the Matthews home on Westminster street. The impressive service was said by Dr. F. S. Hayden. Shortly afterward Dr. and Mrs. Gregory left Jacksonville for a stay of several weeks in Colorado.

A number of relatives were invited to the Matthews home to spend the evening and while nothing was said to indicate the fact, the most of the company rather expected to hear the announcement of the engagement of Miss Matthews and Dr. Gregory. But when Dr. and Mrs. Hayden arrived they began to wonder why they had not worn their "wedding garments." A few moments later without any previous announcement the young people stood before Dr. Hayden for the marriage ceremony. It was indeed a surprise for every one of the guests for no one other than the immediate members of the two families and the minister had been made aware of the plans. For this reason the congratulations were even more hearty than usual.

Mrs. Gregory, who is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Matthews, is known as one of Jacksonville's foremost musicians. After musical work here she spent an extended period in study in Paris and has also taken special work at different times in New York City. In the choir of the Congregational church of which she is a member Mrs. Gregory has been generous with her talent and on many public occasions her voice has been heard with great pleasure. Mrs. Gregory has been known not only as one of Jacksonville's best musicians but also one of the most generous and she has contributed to the success of the programs of numerous benefit concerts.

Dr. Gregory, who is the younger son of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Gregory, after graduating from Illinois college took his medical course at Ann Arbor. He subsequently did some hospital work and then began practice in Jacksonville as an eye, ear and nose specialist. He has been successful in a large way and ranks as one of the leading practitioners of Jacksonville. Dr. and Mrs. Gregory are both prominent socially and friends and relatives in large numbers will join in extending them good wishes.

The company present last night included Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Gregory, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Fairbank, Mrs. George W. Brown, Miss Clara Brown, Miss Georgia Fairbank, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Smith, Miss Florence McKnight, Mr. and Mrs. Percival V. Cooper and children, Mr. and Mrs. Cleon Bell, F. L. Gregory and Arthur D. Fairbank.

QUESTIONED TRAVELING
MAN'S LOYALTY

Exemption Board Thru Sheriff Graff Asked G. G. Kerfoot for Explanation

At the Douglas hotel Saturday morning Frank P. Taylor was in conversation with G. G. Kerfoot of Brazil, Ind. The latter made some remarks which Mr. Taylor considered unpatriotic and improper and he reported the matter to Miller Weir, chairman of the county exemption board. Mr. Weir directed Mr. Taylor to go to Mr. Hairgrove and the latter placed the matter in the hands of Sheriff Graff who according to law is the officer thru whom the exemption board shall act.

Sheriff Graff accompanied Mr. Taylor and they went to the Douglas to interview Mr. Kerfoot and asked him to repeat the remarks he had made. He had said in effect that he did not approve of the U. S. sending such large sums abroad and expending such huge sums for war purposes and thus increasing the tax burdens of the people. Mr. Kerfoot claimed that he had not meant anything disloyal by his remarks and the sheriff after suggesting that it would be well for him to be more careful in the future in his utterances, decided not to make an arrest.

CLAUS SELLS M'FARLAND
FINE NEW OVERLAND

J. F. Claus of the Claus Overland Co. today sold to A. W. McFarland of Markham an Overland touring car. Mr. McFarland says "There's nothing like an Overland for service and pleasure."

INDIAN GYPSIES IN THIS VICINITY

For several days there has been in this vicinity quite a large band of wandering people claiming to be Cherokee Indians but looking more like genuine gypsies. They are traveling in fine style with four automobiles and look fat and sleek yet they are begging and the women are asking permission to tell fortunes. They called several days ago at the country home of Dr. Black and asked for something to eat and when asked what they wanted they petitioned for chicken but Mrs. Black told them the family didn't have that article on the bill of fare.

One of their cars is a Packard and they are traveling in a manner that hardly betokens any great need for alms.

COMPANY B MEN LIKE QUINCY CAMP

Ralph Douglas Writes to Relatives About New Quarters—Band Music Proves Popular

Mr. and Mrs. William S. Douglas of Spates street have received the following letter from their son, Ralph O. Douglas, formerly an employee of the Journal, who has been a member of Co. B for a number of months past.

Quincy, Ill., Aug. 3, 1917.

Dear Ones at Home:

Well, we are away from Pearl at last. I went off guard at midnight July 31, left Pearl at 11:15 a. m. August 1 and joined company at Louisiana. We slept in an open pasture Wednesday night, rolled blanket rolls and packs at 4:30 a. m. Thursday and the whole company left for Quincy. I am having a good time in a real army camp. There is a battalion here of two infantry companies and one company of machine gunners. We had a dress parade last night. That 5th regiment band plays fine, it really is some band. We march by it at parade.

We have our tents pitched and expect to stay a few days to drill, take hikes, etc. We hiked about twelve miles this morning. Co. F was in the lead and five men dropped out or fagged. They have been here some time too. Co. B men were used to hiking the hills around Pearl and came out of the trying ordeal in fine condition.

Another company has just marched in, I think it was Co. D. Our men from Jacksonville have not arrived as yet. From all appearances Co. B is superior to Co. F in the matter of drill, etc.

We get such good food here as at Pearl, but the quantity is plentiful. We are camped in a park about two miles from town. The colonel and majors have their tents in this camp also. Our camp is on a hill overlooking the river and the scenery all about is fine.

I am No. 3 rear rank 1st squad. The whole squad is over 6 feet tall except the corporal. The tallest man is 6 feet, 5 inches. Will give you more facts about army life later. Give my regards to all my friends.

As ever,

Ralph O. Douglas.

THE WEATHER SUGGESTS that you eat only what is cool and nourishing. For instance, the Baby Brick Ice Cream or some nice peach cream made from fresh picked peaches; fresh salted almonds or a nice box of candy out of our refrigerator to take on that auto ride. These items are always at MERRIGAN'S.

TAKES RECRUITS TO QUINCY

Second Lieutenant Harrison Dickson received orders Saturday morning to take his recruits to Quincy and left on the Wabash Saturday afternoon at 5:13 o'clock for that city.

Lieutenant Dickson had twenty-six men in his squad which will give the company a total of between 125 and 130 men. Of this number the lieutenant said, only about fifteen percent are residents of Jacksonville. Had it not been for enlistments from Pike, Cass and adjoining counties Co. B would have made a sorry showing with the other companies in the regiment. Dickson says all of the other companies in the regiment are up to war strength and some are over. It is his opinion that Co. B will be given the overflow and will get men who will not be up to the standard of those already recruited.

The rubber will be played at Springfield next Saturday and Jacksonville is confident that she can finish on the long end of the score.

JOHN P. GILBERT

Prof. Gilbert, the head of the Department of Biology in the Southern Illinois State Normal university is an authority on the natural history of Illinois and has been making Nature Study addresses for years. For a number of years he also acted as platform manager at various Chautauquas. He will act as platform manager at the Jacksonville Chautauqua and will deliver at 9:30 each week day morning a Nature Study lecture illustrated by charts, specimens, etc.

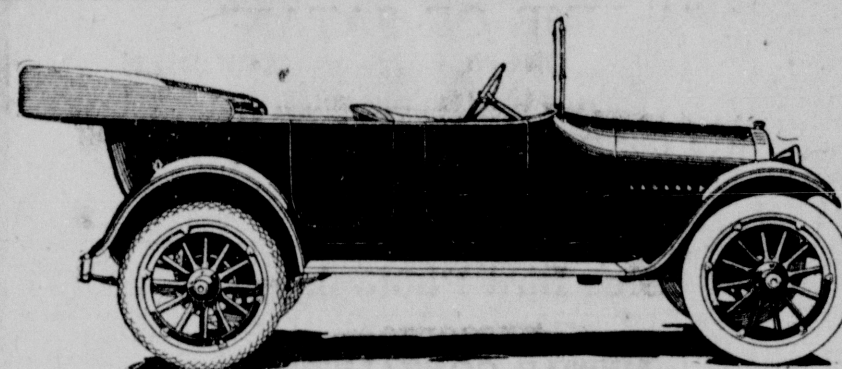

His subjects will be:

- Bird and Insect Musicians.
- Bird Homes and Families.
- Ants and Their Herds.
- Mimicry Among Birds.
- Bees and Honey.
- Beneficial Birds and Bugs.
- How to Recognize Birds.
- How to Attract Birds.

Mr. Gilbert treats these subjects in simple language so that all may understand. The intimate knowledge of boys and girls gained as a teacher enables Mr. Gilbert to present scientific matter so that even a child can understand and appreciate it. The most common objects about the home are treated as to their life histories, habits, beauties and relation to human life and welfare. All of the work of this naturalist is intended to create deep and abiding interest in Nature.

In discussing his subjects, Mr. Gilbert will touch many phases of nature study not included in the subject title so that his series of lectures will prove broadly educational. These lectures should interest especially young folk and teachers, but will appeal to everyone who loves Nature and the great outdoors.

WAR NEWS SUMMARIZED

The Teutonic armies, advancing against increasing resistance on the eastern front, are slowly being forced back in the west.

Gains by the British on the Flanders front Friday, when St. Julien was re-entered were followed by an advance by the French on their front Friday night. Notwithstanding bad weather, French forces drove in beyond the Kortek cabaret.

Berlin announces an increase in the artillery fire to great violence at times on the Flanders front. Apparently the renewal of the great battle is only awaiting the return of fairly good weather.

London makes it clear that no shifting of British troops was found necessary to cope with the situation created by the German diversion of Thursday night on the Arras battle front, thru which inroads were made upon the British position on "Infantry hill."

Attacks carried out the following day and night, the official statement announces, forced the Germans out and completely restored the positions.

The situation on the Russian front continues favorable to the central powers, but the Russians, altho symptoms of continuing low morale are still noted, appear to be offering a stiffer defense, particularly along the eastern Galician border. At one point an energetic operation cleared the Austro-German forces from a sector of the east bank of the Zbrocz.

At another point on this line, near Skala, the Teutonic troops were driven out of two villages.

The Russians continue to yield ground in Bukovina and in the Carpathians. They are engaged in a stiff battle with the enemy northeast of Kimpolung, however. Below Kimpolung the Russian forces are falling back on the Moldavia and have yielded the town of Watra.

Berlin sums up the campaign of the last 14 days in the east as having cleared all Galicia of the Russians, with the exception of a small strip of territory extending south-east from Brody.

On the Austro-Italian front there is somewhat more activity. The Italian airmen are notably busy. They rapidly followed up their recent raid on Pola, carrying out a second air attack in which great damage is reported to have been done the Austrian naval base.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 4.—Bernard Henry Callner, 5251 Michigan avenue, Chicago, was drowned at 7:30 tonight when the automobile which he was driving went over the Sangamon river six miles north of here. The body was recovered shortly after 9 o'clock and was identified by his draft registration card. ## CROP YIELDS SHOW WONDERFUL FIGURES

J. E. Rawlings Secured Over $6200 From Wheat on 70 Acres—Record Oat Yields.

Stories of excellent yields on Morgan county farms continue to be heard, and undoubtedly this is the most prosperous year for farmers that has been recorded in this locality for many years. A splendid yield of wheat was secured by James E. Rawlings on his farm in the Durbin neighborhood. He had 70 acres which produced an average of 38 bushels and he sold the crop at $2.35 per bushel. This makes the goodly sum of $6,251.

Edward Rea of the Woodson neighborhood had a 13 acre field of oats which made the remarkable record of 99 bushels to the acre.

Edward Collins of the Prentice neighborhood has finished threshing the wheat from 80 acres on his farm and sold this crop for $5,250, which means an average of $65.50 an acre.

On Dr. Hailgrove's farm just west of the city limits where Edward Shibe has farmed some land, 2100 bushels of oats threshed from 20 acres. This threshing was done by Gabe Chrisman in 6½ hours' time. The same threshing outfit was on the Clarence Rice place, where 40 acres of oats yielded a total of 3,215 bushels.

MINE EXPLOSION KILLS TWENTY-FOUR

Twenty-Five Others Injured—Sixty-Six Uninjured—Others Entombed Cannot Be Reached Before Today.

Clay, Ky., Aug. 4.—Twenty four men dead and 25 injured was the known toll tonight of an explosion here early today in No. 7 mine of the West Kentucky Coal company, according to Charles S. Richardson, vice-president and general manager.

Of approximately 140 men in the mine at the time of the explosion, 115 had been brought to the surface early tonight, Mr. Richardson said, of whom sixty six were uninjured. Those still entombed in the inner workings cannot be reached before tomorrow he believes. Hope that many of them will be found alive is slight.

Officials of the mining company decline to express an opinion as to the cause of the explosion.

Heroic work was done by volunteer rescue squads in bringing to the surface all those it was possible to reach without the use of helmets. The work is being continued tonight.

Report Forty-Four Dead.
 Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 4.—Forty-four were killed in the mine accident at Clay, Ky., today, according to a message received tonight by the bureau of mines here from operatives accompanying the rescue car which was hurried to the scene of the accident. Ten men are missing, the message stated.

FEDERAL AGENTS TAKE RIOT LEADERS

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—A riot this afternoon near the L. Wolff Manufacturing company's plant, participated in by more than 200 men and women, was followed late today by the arrest of 15 of the riot leaders by federal agents. I. W. W. agitators are charged with fomenting the demonstration.

Those arrested are now said to be under investigation to determine if the riots were intended as a threat at war preparations, the Wolff company having contracts to furnish sanitary equipment for army and navy training camps.

The outbreak today is said to be the result of a strike five weeks ago of a group of employees at the Wolff plant. Since the strike was called there have been intermittent disturbances reported, a general melee occurring this afternoon when between fifty and sixty-five workers at the plant were attacked as they left the factory. No one was injured.

Several shots were fired. One hundred police were called to restore quiet.

W. D. Haywood, secretary-treasurer of the I. W. W., denied that his organization was connected with the Wolff troubles.

NORDMAN STRIKES MINE; REACHES PORT

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 4.—The Holland-American Line Steamship Nordman struck a mine while bound for Holland and altho badly damaged reached port under her own steam. Owing to the low water however, she was not able to enter and officials of the line declared she might have to be run aground. The Nordman carried 237 passengers including two Americans and a crew of 270 a total of 507, all of whom were saved.

The explosion occurred at 4 p. m. with a boisterous sea running. The passengers were transferred to the tug Thames which accompanied the steamer at the time.

This is the second time the Nordman has struck a mine. Her cargo's value is estimated at $2,000,000.

GIVES REASON FOR ARREST OF GEN. GURKO

PETROGRAD, Aug. 4.—At the winter palace conference today, M. Nekrasoff, presiding officer, announced that General Gurko had been arrested because, in the correspondence of Nicholas Romanoff, the former emperor, there had been discovered a letter from General Gurko. It was written immediately after the revolution and in it the general assured the former emperor he remained faithful to the autocracy but that he considered it necessary for the present to lie low and pretend that he accepted the revolution.

this does not apply. Officials believe the effect of this order will be to curtail applications for exemption to a large extent. Men who do not have legitimate excuses are not expected to court the scorn of neighbors who would recognize the weakness of their pleas when published.

Men whose cases are clear, however, and who are entitled to exemption, officials believe will be glad to have their neighbors know that it is not lack of patriotism nor fear that prompts them to seek relief from military service. General Crowder believes that if reports were available tonight from each of the 4,000 local boards, it would be known that many thousands of men have already been passed physically fit and no application for exemption and are awaiting orders to join the colors.

Hold Mass Meetings.

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 4.—Mass meetings in opposition to the selective draft law were held today in three different sections of Georgia, but reports to Atlanta tonight indicate no further action than adoption or resolutions urging amendment of the laws so that a drafted man's permission must be secured before he could be sent to Europe.

Fear Opposition To Draft.

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 4.—Unrest is evident and opposition to the draft is feared in Chatham county, North Carolina, by the local authorities according to information made public tonight by Governor Bickett. In one township, it was reported to the governor, the authorities learned an effort was to be made to prevent the appearance for examination of any man called in the first quota.

Governor Bickett said today he did not anticipate serious trouble anywhere in the state. Thus far the Chatham county instance is the only one of its kind reported.

CITY HAS NEW MOTOR FIRE APPARATUS

Equipment Will Permit Sale of Horses—Council Takes This Action for Better Protection and Economy.

Two triple combination motor driven hose wagons, pumps and chemical engines have been purchased for the Jacksonville fire department. The new equipment reached the city yesterday and was unloaded under the direction of Mr. Miller, representative of the American-LaFrance company, builders of the apparatus. Mr. Miller will remain here for some weeks until members of the department understand thoroughly how to operate the equipment. The official test will be given next Thursday under direction of Thomas R. Johnson, Chicago manager for the company.

These motor chemical engines were purchased at a cost of $5,000 each. More than a year ago when the question of issuing bonds for the improvement of the water and light departments and for new equipment in the fire department was before the people the contract was let to the American-LaFrance company for these two engines. At the subsequent election the bonds were not authorized but the order with the American-LaFrance company was allowed to stand. It takes many months to secure equipment of this kind and these engines were only recently completed. Prices have advanced very sharply for such equipment since this order was placed and altho the engines were built and marked with the name of Jacksonville the city had the privilege of taking them or selling them to another city, changing the name plate only being necessary.

Prices Higher Now

The price of each engine now is $7,500 and when Commissioner Martin was in Chicago a committee from another city was at the office of the American-LaFrance company and offered Jacksonville $14,500 for the two. However, after canvassing the situation the council decided that it would be much more advisable to receive these two engines, both because of the greater fire protection and the economy which will result. The city does not have the funds available to pay for the new apparatus but will be able to borrow the amount of money needed.

With the addition of these two engines to the fire department it will be possible to sell all the horses and part of the apparatus now in use. The estimate is that $2,000 can be realized in this way. The receipts from fees paid by insurance companies amount to $900 a year and based on the expense records of other cities where such apparatus is used and the cost of maintaining present fire fighting equipment, the estimate of saving is $3,000 a year. If the figures of Mr. Martin and the council are correct the saving effected in two years' time will nearly pay for the equipment. The records of other cities where this motor apparatus is used show the average cost for maintenance is $3.00 per month where the fire runs are from 250 to 300 per year.

The Equipment.

In this city the average number of runs is 80 to 100 a year. Expenses for feed and maintenance at the fire department last year were $3,500 and with the present prices it is certain that the expenses for the coming year would have been $4,000. Each one of these engine pumps will deliver 350 gallons of water per minute in a test.

In Chicago recently one of them delivered 499 gallons but the guaranteed capacity is 350. Each pump carries the chemical apparatus and 1500 feet of 2½ inch hose. The engine is of 75 horse power with 5½ inch bore and 6 inch stroke. The engines have self-starter equipment and all the electrical part is of the very highest class just as is true of this equipment throughout. The American-LaFrance company has specialized in this business for years and the pumps have a guarantee for five years. In a case of an ordinary fire one of the pumps will be sent and the other held at the department in case of fire in some other locality. If the fire cannot be controlled with one pump then the second one will be sent and the steam engine now in use will be held in reserve.

In case of a very large fire in the business district the two pumps and the engine can all be used. If a fire is of such proportions that it is known that three will be necessary for control, one of the pumps will be used in pulling the steam engine. Otherwise if it is necessary to take it from the department a team can be quickly secured from the Cherry barn nearby the city hall. Had the recent bond issue carried a pump of 750 gallon capacity would have been purchased and thus the department would have had a great deal more reserve apparatus. As indicated above, the city authorities purchased this equipment in order to secure the additional fire protection and if possible thus satisfy the insurance underwriters who were complaining about the condition of the department.

Furthermore the cost of operation by the new plan will be much lessened.

FIGHT FOR BETTER FUEL PRICES CONTINUES

Gov. Lowden and Congressman Rainey Indicate a Desire To Protect Peoples' Rights—New Federal Law Will Give President Power to Take Over Mines Or Name Prices.

William N. Hairgrove has just received a letter from Gov. Lowden and another from Congressman Rainey with reference to the coal situation. Gov. Lowden declares pointedly that it is his intention to use all the authority he has under the law to bring about a reduction in prices. Congressman Rainey believes that the food and fuel control bill when it becomes a law, will thru the authority vested in the president, give ample protection to the people. The proposed law, as Mr. Rainey points out, practically provides for confiscation of coal properties if the owners are not willing to meet the prices which the government fixes. The letters from Gov. Lowden and Congressman Rainey are given herewith. Extracts from the proposed law are also given, outlining the main provisions with reference to the operation of the mines during the period of the war.

In connection with this coal price agitation Bernard Gause has received a copy of a resolution adopted by the National District Heating association, which shows that the members are thoroughly enlisted in the cause of lower coal prices for consumers.

Letter From Governor.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 2, 1917.

Dear Mr. Hairgrove:

I am just in receipt of your telegram of August 1. This grave question is occupying almost my entire attention. I am working out all the powers I possess under the law, and I propose to utilize them to the utmost to secure a reduction in the price of coal.

Very sincerely yours,
Frank O. Lowden.

Mr. William N. Hairgrove,
Jacksonville, Illinois.

Mr. Rainey Outlines Proposed Law.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 2, 1917.

Hon. Wm. N. Hairgrove,
Jacksonville, Ill.

My dear Mr. Hairgrove:

I am in receipt of your letter of July 31. The Food and Fuel Control Bill has now been agreed upon in conference between the House and the Senate and the bill will probably pass the House today, and possibly the Senate also. As soon as the President signs the bill it will become a law.

I sent you a copy of the bill, and on account of your interest in the subject, indicated in your letter to me, I requested you in my letter to read the section of the bill which virtually provides for confiscation of the coal mines if the owners or operators are unable to meet the prices fixed by the Government for coal. I requested you to advise me whether in your judgment more stringent measures should be taken or could be taken than provided in this bill. Your letter to me does not make any suggestions along this line.

I expect today to vote for the report of the conferees and I sincerely hope that under these provisions relief may be had in this matter. I will be very glad indeed to do anything I can to bring about relief from the present conditions.

Very truly yours,
H. T. Rainey.

Ask Fair Prices

Whereas the excessive and exorbitant prices now being asked for coal causing loss and hardship in our country, and

Whereas, heating is the most essential of the comforts and necessities of humanity.

This association does hereby ask that the government of the country and its officers and committees take such steps as will compel the great coal industry to market its product at such prices as will give a fair and reasonable return upon the cost of production and at the same time will not injure nor destroy legitimate business in our country. And that the great transportation companies be urged to deliver coal as a preferred commodity.

And we further urge that all associations and utilities assist the Government and its officials in bringing about such adjustment of prices for fuel as will be equitable to all parties concerned.

These are some paragraphs from the pending law relating to fuel prices and supply.

Can Fix Prices

(63) Sec. 22. That it is necessary and proper, in order to execute the powers of congress to raise and support armies, provide and maintain the navy, and properly and efficiently provide for the common defense, that the president of the United States shall be, and he is hereby authorized and empowered, whenever and wherever in his judgment necessary for the efficient prosecution of the war, to fix the price of coal and coke, wherever and whenever sold, either by producer or dealer, to establish rules for the regulation of and to regulate the method of sale, transportation, distribution, apportionment, or storage thereof among merchants and consumers, domestic or foreign; said authority and power may be exercised by him in each case thru the agency of the federal trade commission, during the war and for a period of one year thereafter, or for such part of said time as in his judgment may be necessary.

That if, in the opinion of the president, any such producer or dealer fails or neglects to conform to such prices or regulations, or to conduct his business efficiently under the regulations and control of the president as aforesaid, or conducts it in a manner prejudicial to the public interest, then the president is hereby authorized and empowered in every such case to requisition and take over the plant, business, and all appurtenances thereof belonging to such producer or dealer as a going concern, and to operate or cause the same to be operated in such manner and thru such agency as he may direct during the period of the war and one year thereafter, or for such part of said time as in his judgment may be necessary.

That any producer or dealer whose plant, business, and appurtenances shall have been requisitioned or taken over by the president shall be paid a fair and reasonable compensation for the use thereof or for damages incurred thereby during the period that the same may be requisitioned or taken over as aforesaid, which compensation and damages the president shall fix or cause to be fixed by the federal trade commission or such other agent or agencies as he may designate.

U. S. Could Take All Product

Or if the president of the United States shall be of the opinion that he can hereby better provide for the common defense, and whenever, in his judgment, it shall be necessary for the efficient prosecution of the war, then he is hereby authorized and empowered to require any or all producers of coal and coke, either in any special area or in any special coal fields, or in the entire U. S. to sell their products only to the United States thru an agency to be designated by the president, such agency to regulate the resale of such coal and coke, and the prices thereof and to fix the compensation to be paid such producers by the United States, and to establish rules for the regulation of and to regulate the methods of production, transportation, distribution, apportionment, or storage thereof among merchants and consumers, domestic or foreign, and to make payment of the purchase price thereof to the producers thereof, or to the person or persons legally entitled to said payment.

That within fifteen days after notice from the agencies so designated to any producer of coal and coke that his or its output is to be so purchased by the United States as hereinbefore described, such producer shall cease shipments of said product upon his own account and shall transmit to such agency all orders received and unfilled or partially unfilled, showing the exact extent to which shipments have been made therein, and thereafter all shipments shall be made only on authority of the agency designated by the president, and thereafter no such producer shall sell any of said products except to the United States thru such agency, and the said agency alone is hereby authorized and empowered to purchase during the continuance of the requirement the output of such producers.

That the prices to be paid for such products so purchased shall be based upon a fair and just profit over and above the cost of production, including proper maintenance and depletion charges, the reasonableness of such profits and cost of production to be determined by the federal trade commission, and if the prices fixed by the said commission of any such product purchased by the United States as hereinbefore described be unsatisfactory to the person or persons entitled to the same, such person or persons shall have the right to sue the United States in the manner provided for by section twenty-four, paragraph twenty, and section one hundred and forty five of the judicial code, to recover such other sum as added to the amount so fixed will be just compensation. All such products so sold to the United States shall be sold by the United States at such uniform prices, quality considered, as may be practicable and as may be determined by said agency to be just and fair.

Any moneys received by the United States for the sale of any such coal and coke may, in the discretion of the president, be used as a revolving fund for other carrying out the purposes of this section. Any moneys not so used shall be covered into the treasury as miscellaneous receipts.

Inquiring as to Costs

That when directed by the president, the federal trade commission is hereby required to proceed immediately with all possible dispatch to make full inquiry giving such notice as it may deem practicable into the cost of producing under reasonable efficient management at the various places of production the following commodities, to wit: Coal and coke.

The books, correspondence, records and papers in any way referring to transactions of any kind relating to the mining, production, sale or distribution of all mine operators or other persons whose coal and coke have or may become subject to this section, and the books, correspondence, records and papers of any person applying for the purchase of coal and coke from the United States shall at all times be subject to inspection by the said agency, and such person or persons shall promptly furnish said agency any data or information relating to the business of such person or persons which said agency may call for, and said agency is hereby authorized to procure the information in reference to the business of such coal mine operators and producers of coke and customers thereof in the manner provided for in sections six and nine of the act of congress approved September twenty sixth, nineteen hundred and fourteen, entitled "An Act to create a federal trade commission, to define its powers and duties, and for other purposes," and said agency is hereby authorized and empowered to exercise all the powers granted to the federal trade commission by said act for the carrying out of the purposes of this section.

Having completed its inquiry respecting any commodity in any locality it shall, if the president has decided to fix the prices at which any such commodity shall be sold by producers and dealers generally, fix and publish maximum prices for both producers of and dealers in any such commodity, which maximum prices shall be observed by all producers and dealers until further action thereon is taken by the commission.

In fixing maximum prices for producers the commission shall allow the cost of production, including the expense of operation, maintenance, depreciation and depletion, and shall add thereto a just and reasonable profit.

In fixing such prices for dealers, the commission shall allow the cost to the dealer and shall add thereto a just and reasonable sum for his services in the transaction. There shall be but one such dealer between the producer and consumer or user.

WAR-BLIND DOING USEFUL WORK

Electrical Manufacturer Successful in Teaching Blind to Earn Their Way for First Time Making Electrical Equipment

Realizing that one of the most acute problems of the war is the necessity of providing for the thousands of blind soldiers, Dr. Schuyler S. Wheeler, long interested in the blind, recently set about finding a means of their earning their living. Hitherto the blind have made baskets, brooms, chairs, and other simple objects, but these were more costly than machine made articles and were only bought by charitably inclined persons. Dr. Wheeler sought to find a place in the work-a-day world where the labor of the blind would command a price for articles universally needed. His successful solution of the problem is best explained by himself.

"I knew that the blind must be taught to do necessary work," he said, "or they would not fill a recognized place in the economic scheme. I felt that this was of vital necessity, because there will be thousands of blind soldiers after the war. For a long time I studied various schemes and it was only about two months ago that I solved the problem. I was walking thru the winding room of the Crocker-Wheeler company, electrical machinery manufacturers of Ampere, N. J., when I noted the work of the employees, many of whom are women. They wind used in insulating tape the coils used in armatures and similar apparatus, and I soon realized that their touch was more important than their sight.

"The eyes of the blind being in their fingers, I made up my mind that the blind could do this work, of which there is practically an unlimited amount and which must be done. Two months ago I founded the 'Double Duty' Finger Guild at 22 Park Avenue, Ampere, and induced a few blind men to take up the work. Under the instruction of a winding expert they soon learned the trade and now there are more than a score and others coming in as soon as there is room for them. Among the blind are three colored men and three women all of whom are doing excellent work. Owing to their dexterity and willingness to take pains, the work of these blind is every bit as good as that of the workers who have their sight. The most important thing is that they earn fair wages and can support themselves at a trade necessary to the electrical industry."

Blind soldiers from the armies of the allies are soon expected to arrive for training in this work, so that they may return home and teach others to be self supporting.

REV. J. W. MILLEN WILL SERVE Y. M. C. A. ABROAD

Former Jacksonville Minister Expects to go With Y. M. C. A. Team to France.

Rev. J. W. Miller of Hoopeston, formerly pastor of Grace M. E. church in this city, some time since offered his services as a chaplain of a regiment to go to the war front. That work is now in the hands of the army Y. M. C. A. and Rev. Mr. Miller has received notice of his appointment as religious secretary of a team that is expected to be sent to France within a few weeks. Mr. Miller's family will move from the Hoopeston parsonage and will occupy another home in Hoopeston while Mr. Miller is abroad.

The Hoopeston paper after mentioning the facts narrated above has the following: "The bishop in charge of the Illinois conference has promised to assign Mr. Miller to the Y. M. C. A. work at the next meeting of the conference. If the call does not come too soon Mr. Miller hopes to finish up his work in this charge for this year."

"The need of Y. M. C. A. work in the army was clearly brought out by General Pershing when he made a tour of inspection of the French forces with the French General Petaine. The latter asked General Pershing for a frank criticism of conditions, and the American general said the efficiency of the French army seemed to him to be greatly lessened by the immorality of the men. General Petaine asked what could be done about the matter, and General Pershing said the army Y. M. C. A. produced much better condition among the men. The French general asked how he could proceed to have five hundred Y. M. C. A. secretaries put to work, and General Pershing promised to assist him in every way possible. The British have 1,600 Y. M. C. A. buildings at home and along the French front, and the morale in the British army is better than in the French."

Beware of Strangers.

An auto collision which might have had serious results occurred on the Spaulding road Friday evening about 6:30 o'clock, when the car of Dr. W. O. Waite who was driving west, collided with the car of Dr. W. O. Waite, who was driving east. Mr. and Mrs. Clary and Harvey Adkins were the occupants of the Clary car and Dr. Waite and his wife occupied the other car.

The fact that both cars were being driven at moderate speed prevented serious injury to the occupants, who beyond a slight shaking up, were none the worse for the accident. The cars were making the curve near the Spaulding crossing when the collision occurred. The Waite car had the lights and crank handle broken and the fender damaged, while the lights on the Clary car were broken and the radiator punctured.

INITIATIVE COUNTS MUCH IN FLYING CORPS

British Pilot Held German in Check By Sheer Inherent Manpower When Machine Supremacy was with the Germans — Are Given Great Liberty of Action.

London, Aug. 5.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press) — In an branch of the British army does personal initiative count more than in the Flying Corps. In no branch of the service has it been more encouraged. The British pilot held the German in check by sheer inherent manpower when machine supremacy was undeniably with the Germans. Now that this supremacy has been neutralized by the increasing effectiveness of the British aeroplane, British pilots are given greater liberty of action still, and many of them act in what might be called a "free lance" capacity, says a British official statement.

One of those roving airmen was over the battle line early one morning with no other purpose than that of sending to destruction any hostile plane which he might chance to meet, when the singular scarcity of possible opponents decided him to push further afield.

Then the German gunners concentrated their attention on him. Clouds of anti-aircraft shrapnel festooned his course, and "Flaming onions"—inflammable shells designed to set fire to an aeroplane—groaned up from below and burst in groups. But all the efforts of the German gunners were in vain. Now nose-diving and side-slipping, now soaring skyward, the British airman pirouetted his way through the poisonous flame-starred mist, and broke clear to the fresh cloudy heavens out of range.

Safe past this "zone of the Archies" he spied a German aviator high above him watching for a chance to "come down on the tail" of an unsuspecting pilot, a favorite method of attack with Hun airmen. The Briton decided to rid himself of the menace without more ado.

Descending a thousand feet or so, he deliberately slid under a bank of clouds and there circled slowly, waiting for the German to drop on him. Like a yacht driving through the spindrift of a breaking wave, the hostile aeroplane broke through the encircling mist and drove straight down on his antagonist. Down went the nose of the British machine. As if held together by an invisible stay, these two giant hawks dashed earthward. Suddenly the foremost machine swooped upward and the famous side-loop manoeuvre was performed. Ere the German realized what had happened, his intended victim had reversed the order of the dive, and a well-directed burst of machine-gun fire sent the one-time pursuer crashing to the earth.

Rid of his adversary, the British airman ascended and flew eastward. Through the cloud patches, he saw the German aerodrome which was his objective. Earthward he swooped.

The Germans saw him coming, and frantic airmen tried to get aloft before his arrival. One left the ground but a splash of machine-gun bullets killed its pilot and it slipped to destruction. Another made the attempt but ere it had risen fifty feet, it shared the fate of the other machines.

A group of mechanics struggled with a third plane. A spray of bullets swept over them and they struggled no longer.

There was a silence in that aerodrome, and a stillness, and no living man was to be seen. The British machine dived lazily above while its pilot rectified a jammed machine gun. Then it swept over the hangars riddling them and the aeroplanes within. Content with his work the Briton turned homeward.

More than ten miles away were the British lines. One German attempted to intercept him. He boldly volplaned down, the German machine gun began to stutter then the German pilot banked and dived. He was afraid to fight alone.

Again the "Archie" clusters blurred the sky, but the range was too great for them to be dangerous. A few minutes later the adventurous voyage ended and the Briton was safe. The results of this sole effort were three hostile aeroplanes destroyed, and a whole squadron, with its aerodrome, wiped off the German fighting strength for days to come.

AIRMAN WON VICTORIA CROSS IN EGYPT

Deed of Lieut. McNamara of Australian Flying Corps one of Most Striking Incidents of War Involving Australians.

Sydney, Australia, Aug.—One of the most striking war incidents involving Australians is the deed by which Lieutenant F. H. McNamara of the Australian Flying Corps won the Victoria Cross in Egypt a few months ago. McNamara is 23 years old and a son of the head of the Victorian (war) Wheat Commission. Before the war he was a public school teacher in Victoria. His home is in Caulfield. An army surgeon named MacDonald wrote in a recent graphic letter to his father regarding McNamara's exploit and its aftermath:

"On Monday last Lieutenant McNamara of the Australian Flying Corps flew out from the aerodrome and later passed beyond Beersheba. Here he came upon the Turkish cavalry. They immediately opened fire. His wings were several times perforated by bullets but he just flew around and dropped his shells. They were shells timed to explode. Usually bombs are carried and they explode only on contact. McNamara dropped four and released a fifth from his bomb vest. It exploded prematurely under the aeroplane. A piece of shrapnel tore its way thru his ear and penetrated the body of the machine. It ended by entering his thigh making a huge ugly wound."

"He immediately dropped two smoke bombs as a signal of distress. But at that minute he saw another airman drop two smoke bombs and hover down thru engine trouble."

"As McNamara said to me, 'I could not let the poor devil stay down there and not try to rescue him.' Well, he descended but as his aeroplane was built for only one the other man had to climb into the space between the planes. All this time the Turks were busy shooting at them. With his extra passenger McNamara tried to ascend. But the leg was terribly painful with the result that the machine swerved and toppled over as it was moving along the ground preliminary to rising. They were prisoners for a certainty unless they managed to make the other machine go."

"They ran over to the other machine and tested the engine. Wonderful to relate it went. So in they climbed and soared into the air pursued by shrapnel from the Turks. On the way back McNamara nearly fainted several times through loss of blood and pain but by putting his head outside into the rushing air he recovered. It would have been smash and death for both if he had fainted. They arrived back safely. That night McNamara was cheered to the echo. His deed is known all over this part of Egypt. It will be the V. C. or if not the V. C. then something pretty good."

SOLDIERS' MONUMENT ASSOCIATION MEETS

Placing of Names on Monumental Tablets Chief Question Discussed at Regular Session Saturday Morning—Jurors Here Later Part of Week.

The Morgan County Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument association met Saturday morning in regular session with Major C. E. McDougall in the chair. In the absence of Secretary C. E. Rammelkamp, S. W. Nichols was requested to act in that capacity.

The minutes of the preceding meeting were read and approved.

There was considerable informal discussion regarding placing names on the monumental tablets. It has been decided at a previous meeting to place all the names of those enlisting in Morgan county alphabetically on the monument with no other particulars. Several members favored adding rank, company and regiment. Some thought it would be well to place in separate groups the names of those belonging to the 101st Inf. Cavalry; Co. G, First Mo. Cavalry and possibly those belonging to some other commands largely raised in Morgan county and then attach to all others rank, company and regiment placing them alphabetically.

The objection to this plan was the large amount of space it would occupy as it is intended to place on another part of the monument the names of resident veterans who did not enlist in Morgan county.

Major McDougall said the different plans mentioned would require a great deal of work and much space on the tablets and there would be many veterans whose company and regiment couldn't be ascertained if they had not enlisted in the county. However he was ready to obey instructions whatever they might be. No action.

The chair announced that there would be fifteen competitors and that unless unavoidably detained for good reason all models and drawings must be in the city by Aug. 8th. On arrival they will be taken to the studio in Academy hall, placed under lock and key, unpacked by a professional packer, none designated by anything but a letter or number, and submitted to the jurors from the state art commission who will not know at all the names of the respective competitors. The jurors will designate respectively first, second and third choice and from that list the design for the monument will be chosen.

The jurors are expected here the latter part of this week, the exact day to be announced as soon as ascertained.

The chair and Messrs. C. R. Taylor and C. H. Rammelkamp were elected a committee to receive and entertain the jurors while in the city and were instructed to request Mayor H. J. Rodgers to act with them representing the city council.

FOOD ADULTERATION INCREASES

Paris, Aug.—High prices of food have, since the first of the year, provoked increased adulterations, it appears from statistics of the Municipal Laboratory of Paris. Of 1076 samples analyzed in May, 286 were declared impure by the city chemists. This proportion of 25 per cent of frauds among products examined is the highest ever recorded. It was about 17 per cent in January.

Those figures cannot be taken as a comprehensive summary of the situation since among the samples analyzed were many that were presented by consumers merely as a precaution.

Milk and wine are the most frequently subject to frauds, while the number of "substitutes" for different edibles multiplies constantly as does the audacity of the inventor of artificial foods. Recent investigations have exposed most daring experiments by compounders of extracts to take the place of meat and new compounds to replace butter. Every case of fraud detected is rigorously prosecuted, but the Inspection Department, reduced by the mobilization of a considerable part of its force has difficulty in keeping pace with frauds.

WON FIRST MONEY WITH BETTY BOYD

Clark Green returned Saturday from Peoria where he worked out a number of horses which he will start in the Great Western races there next week. He has been racing at LaHarpe the past week starting Betty Boyd, Marie Constant and Slim.

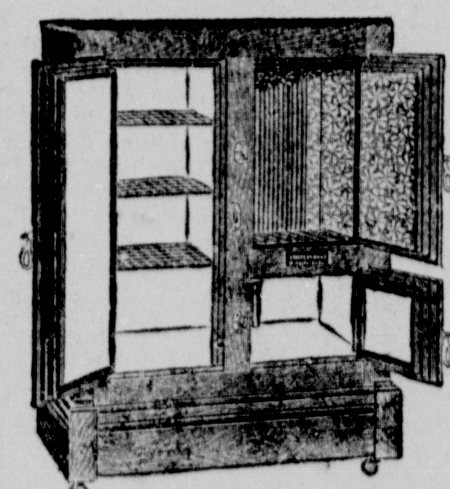

He won first money with Betty Boyd in the 2:30 trot taking the race in straight heats. The best time was 2:17 1-4. He was outside the money with Slim and Marie Constant.

On Saturday Mr. Green went to Peoria where he worked out Miss Ophelia Peter, Vanda Vincen and Beulah Fuller. Miss Ophelia Peter stepped a mile in 2:10. She is entered in the 2:15 pace on Tuesday. Vanda Vincen which also starts on Tuesday in the 2:05 pace worked a mile in 2:09 1-4. Slim will start in the 2:25 pace on Wednesday. He also worked Beulah Fuller a mile in 2:11. However, Mr. Green says she is not ready to start yet and he probably will not start her until the races at LeRoy.

On Wednesday Mr. Green will start Marie Constant at Rushville in the 2:14 trot for a $1,000 stake. On Thursday he will start Betty Boyd in the 2:30 trot.

Overfeeding means overheating, and

BELLIGERENT GROUPS

Associated with Inter-Parliamentary Union—General Secretary Gives View of Outlook—Position of Norway Difficult

The Hague, Netherlands, Aug. 4.—(Correspondence)—"The Inter-Parliamentary Union is making no attempt during the war to bring together the different belligerent groups associated with that union, but is encouraging each of them to undertake parallel action in their respective countries in favor of the international aims so often set forth by President Wilson," declared Doctor L. Lange, General Secretary of the Union, in an interview with the correspondent of the Associated Press.

Doctor Lange who is a Norwegian and has his headquarters at Christiania has just made the third round of the different European groups that he has undertaken since the beginning of war and, after conferences at Petrograd, Berlin, Vienna and Bern, has conferred with the Netherlands group of Inter-Parliamentary Union at the Hague. "You may imagine the difficulties connected with the maintenance of the Union and its work in these times," he remarked, "when I mention that the executive committee is composed of an Englishman, a Belgian, a Dutchman, an Austrian and a German. The close participation of members of the various groups in the political life of their respective countries puts an attempt at cooperation out of the question, albeit the three Scandinavian groups continue to meet periodically."

American Group Strong
 "Our main concern for the present is the maintenance of the Union intact so that when peace comes we may be ready to at once contact and cooperate in the reconstruction of international life and the development of international organization. Our American group is strong and energetic, and is carrying on good work under the leadership of James L. Hayden, a member of congress from Texas."

"I am afraid we are at least in for another winter campaign," said Doctor Lange, in response to a question regarding his view of the outlook and impressions gleaned from his conferences in the various belligerent countries. "Each side at present thinks greater advantages may be obtained by continued military action than by the immediate conclusion of peace. It is a curious fact that in one respect the position has been exactly reversed. In the beginning of the war Germany based all her hopes on a decision on land, while Great Britain looked mainly to her naval power. Now it is Britain and the Allies who rely on their land forces, while people in the Central States firmly believe that they can force a decision at sea by means of the U-boat."

Shipping Losses Heavy
 The position of his own country, Norway, Doctor Lange described as exceedingly difficult. "Despite its non-combatant position," he said, "food has risen 68 per cent in price which exactly corresponds with the increase in the cost of living in Germany. The reason for this is that we are so largely dependent on foreign supplies; a third of Norway's food has to be imported. Her shipping losses have been exceeding heavy, and her fleet shows a great shrinkage as compared with its dimensions at the outbreak of war. Shipowners' losses are made good financially, but so far as the country and its economic life are concerned, the money cannot make up for the sunken ships and the lost trade which they represent."

"Whereas before the war wealth was pretty evenly distributed there, the war has created a new moneyed class, but over against this comparatively small group of rich people there is the great mass of the nation weighed down by the burdens the war has imposed. Norway has come off better than most, if not all other European neutrals in the matter of mobilization expenses, for her geographical position secures to her much greater safety. Nevertheless these expenses are exceedingly heavy."

"The chances of Norway getting into complications with either of the belligerent parties at present appear very slight," added Doctor Lange. "The clouds of last year's acute crisis have passed over."

FAMOUS MURDER CASE IS RECALLED

New Bedford, Mass., Aug. 4.—The older generation of New Bedford recalled today as the twenty-fifth anniversary of the murder of Andrew J. Borden and his wife, the mystery surrounding which has never been solved to this day. The double murder was one of the most atrocious crimes in the annals of New England and attracted country-wide attention because of the wealth and social standing of the victims and the fact that Lizzie Borden, daughter of Andrew J. Borden and step-daughter of his slain wife, was arrested and tried for the murders.

On the morning of Aug. 4, Andrew J. Borden, 70 years old and wearied from a trip to the bank and other business places, approached the side door of his house in Second street, this city. Finding it locked from the inside he went to the front door and was about to let himself in with a latch key, when Bridget Sullivan, the domestic of the household, hearing him as she washed the windows, hastened to let him in.

Lizzie Borden, his daughter, also heard the old man coming in. She was upstairs and came down to greet her father. Bridget went up to the attic to resume her window washing. Andrew Borden, inquiring for his wife, was told she had been called out by a note to attend a sick friend. Putting on his dressing jacket, he reclined on the couch for a pre-dinner nap.

Fifteen or twenty minutes later, Lizzie Borden cried to the servant that her father was dead and told her to hurry for a doctor.

In the excitement that followed the horror of finding Andrew Borden, with the blood still warm and flowing from a dozen gaping wounds in his head and skull, no one thought of his wife, the one who would be most deeply concerned in the dreadful catastrophe. When the neighbors finally ascended the stairs far enough to bring their eyes to a level with the upper floor, they made the second horrible discovery. There lay Mrs. Borden, murdered in the task of putting fresh pillow cases on the guest room bed.

It was soon established that the assassin of Mrs. Borden came upon her from behind, delivered one mighty blow with an axe or hatchet—that one blow being fatal in itself—and then standing or sitting astride of her body, sent 17 other frenzied blows into her head and skull and neck.

The assassin of Andrew Borden also came upon him from behind. The old man was anaemic and did not bleed so much as his stout wife. That the murder of the latter was spotted with the victim's blood was established. In the opinion of the medical men, however, the murderer might have escaped with few and possibly no bloodstains in killing the old man.

The only members of the household within call when the atrocious crimes were committed were Lizzie Borden, the daughter, and Bridget Sullivan, the servant. Lizzie Borden's story was to the effect that after seeing her father lay down in the sitting room to rest she went into the yard, and then into the barn, and finally stopped under a pear tree to eat pears and then returned to the house, to discover her father "killed and stabbed."

For a week the authorities worked on the theory that a stranger, perhaps a tramp, had gained entrance to the house and committed the murders. Not a single clue was found, however, to substantiate this theory. But the police were loath to place Lizzie Borden under arrest until every possible angle of the case had been investigated.

Meantime rumors became current that conditions in the Borden household had been far from peaceful and that Lizzie had frequently quarrelled with her step-mother and had endeavored to induce her father to leave the old residence. A detective reported that he had found no footprints on the dust-covered floor of the barn where Lizzie said she had been when the crimes were committed. A drug clerk testified that a few days before Lizzie Borden had sought to buy from him some poison.

On the strength of these and other statements Lizzie Borden was placed under arrest on August 11 and charged with the murder of her father and step-mother. On May 8, 1893, she was brought into court and after a sensational trial which lasted six weeks she was acquitted. After the trial she went to Europe and made a long stay. Since her return she has resided the most of the time in her own home in the exclusive section of Newport, where she has earned the esteem of all her neighbors by her deeds of charity.

PICTURE OF FRANCE FROM SOLDIER'S PEN

Herbert S. Foreman of White Hall
Writes Interesting Letter—Nation
Almost Exhausted By Conflict—
Some Necessities Scarce.

The White Hall Republican-Register this week contains a letter written from France by Herbert S. Foreman son of Dr. A. W. Foreman of White Hall. The story of affairs from the battle front told by this young American soldier will be read with interest here.

Pontainebleau,
Seine et Marne, France,
July 7, 1917

Dear Father:—
The doctor to the school here prescribed that I must sleep outside the quarters in a room a bit more comfortable than those provided so I have a modest little nook just up the street. The privilege of sleeping outside has been accorded all Americans but I was the last to avail myself of it. I am alone this evening and I know you will pardon me if I am a trifle lonely. It has been six weeks since I have had any mail from America and I don't understand why. Mail matters here in France are in a terrible jumble and that may be because the Boche have been sinking some ships; or it may be that no one has written to me.

Manoeuvres are intricate Today we had a written examination on "Dispersion" if you know what that is. That with a lot of drilling this morning has made me pretty tired. In our course we have to study all the cannons but especially the famous "soixante-quinze" (75) both in the class room and in the field. The manoeuvres connected with the "75" are intricate and difficult, so much so that sometimes I wish it hadn't been invented. There are six servants and as we have to learn the duties of each we have our hands full. Monday morning (day after tomorrow) we are going to have visitors, seventeen American officers and twenty French officers are going to visit the school and as we have been notified that our Brigade (15 of us) is going to be the object of particular attention we have been practicing for them.
Just across the street from here is a camp of instruction for the common soldier in heavy artillery. Also in Pontainebleau are a regiment of light artillery and one of infantry.
We hear that they are soon to be sent elsewhere and that American troops will occupy their quarters. Of course in France just as at home
"on dis" (they say) a great deal which never comes to pass. But it is not unlikely.

U. S. Flag Conspicuous
Well, last Wednesday I went to Paris to see "Les Americans" march thru the streets of Paris. I'll tell you Father, it made me feel strange to see that dear old flag coming down the street, that is, the American flag. Since America entered the war the American flag has been very conspicuous in Paris even more so than the French, I believe. The American troops consisted of a battalion (about 800) and they surely did look good to me. The streets were packed with people and I managed to crowd thru and from the Place de la Concorde up the Rue de Rivoli to the Hotel de Ville with lots of other poilus marched with them. You know that in the West where there are lots of tramps and men floating about looking for work they are generally by one another called by the name of "beau". I don't know why it is, but it is true.

And as our regular army is to some extent recruited from that element
the name is very common in the army. So the other day I addressed several of my compatriots with "Hello, beau, where do you come from?" Glancing at my French uniform you would have laughed to see the look of surprise and recognition coming over their faces. All along the route the French were crying
"Vive l'Americain! Vive les poilus Americains!" It certainly is touching to see the French regard for the United States. They seem to feel that a friend has come to help them.
And they feel that they need the help. And they do too. I'll tell you France is tired; the struggle has been long and fierce. But God bless them, they are always cheerful. I am writing this part of my letter today (Sunday). A little while ago I went down to a little shop near here conducted by a charming old lady about your age. When she discovered
I was American she clasped my hands and told me I was the first American she had ever seen and how glad she was to see me. Then she told me she was in Paris during the siege of 1870 and how trivial the war was as compared with this. She told me that one of her neighbors had just received word of the death at the front of a twenty years old son by gas and a son of another neighbor has been missing three months. It is hardly worth recounting tho it is so common here.

Course Covers Three Months
I believe I told you there are eleven of us Americans here. I came thru the recommendation of Ambassador Sharpe who helped me. This morning one of the Secretaries of the American Embassy was down here and I asked him what they proposed to do with us after we finish here. In response he said he didn't know but that the school here is so much ahead of anything in America and the course so much harder; that any of us finishing here will be well taken care of. We commenced June 11 and our course continues three or four months.

As I sit here looking out of the window I will tell you what I see in our back yard. It is long and narrow like yours at home. There are some cherry trees and pear trees, some strawberries and some onions and garden truck about the same as you raise, and the weeds (there are not many) are the same. The houses are nearly all red roofed and are of that French architecture which you have often seen pictured. They are hardly any frame houses; they are nearly all stone or brick of some sort of composition. There are very few fences as we know them at home but generally a stone wall around one's property. Within sight here is an old church built in the tenth century. There are two towers here Pontainebleau and Avon but as they run together one thinks of them as one. Where I am rooming is in Avon. Just up the street is the Octori, a sort of a Custom House where duties are collected from persons taking certain things from one town to the other, a very bothersome way of raising revenue. I should think.

Climate Like California
About once or twice a week we go in a big truck away out in the forest and do some practical work in topography. Every place I have been in France there are places like Bradshaw's Mound south of White Hall from which you can see a great deal of the surrounding country.
The last time we were out on a trip
like that our lieutenant showed us
the biggest tree in the forest, a big oak. It didn't compare much with the big trees in California. Generally speaking I find the vegetation
here a good deal like that of Illinois with a climate much like that of the coast country in California in summer.

By the way I wrote Carolyn a letter recently in which I tried to tell her of "creme au fromage" which the French make a great deal. It is made of milk or cream and "pressure." "Pressure" is something which comes from the stomach of a cow. Someone told me that it is sold at drug stores. "Crema au fromage" looks like thick cream and they put sugar on it and eat it. And instead of using sweet cream on berries as we do at home they serve berries with "crema au fromage." I think it brings out the taste of the berry much better than the cream does. I want you to try it and write me how you like it.

Sugar Very Expensi e
Ever since I have been in France sugar has been very expensive; and the quality is very coarse. I don't know where it comes from. Paper is difficult to get. I paid the equivalent of fifty cents for the tablet of 16. "My liver, would become sluggish, at times. None of the food I ate seemed to agree with me as I usually felt bloated and had severe pains in my stomach following meals.
I was very nervous too. In fact, my system generally was all-run down.
"I realized that I must get something to relieve my troubles and as Tanlac was so highly recommended I decided to try the new medicine. Was it a lucky decision? Well, I should say so. My stomach seems to be in fine condition now. The pains in my stomach and bloating do not follow my meals any more. My liver is working properly now also I'm not nearly so nervous either Tanlac has greatly benefited me and I'm only too willing to let others know of my experience with the "Master Medicine."

Tanlac is now being introduced in Jacksonville at the Cover-Shreve
Drug Co. East Side store. Tanlac
also may be obtained at the

MAVERICKS

Last winter when the cold winds
blew
And chills ran up and down our spine
We held our shins against the fire,
And wished for the good old summer time.

But now its blinety in the shade
We long again for ice and snow,
To feel cool breezes on our brow
And wish it was fifteen below.

The Russians seem to be retreating faster than they charged.

Since the saloons have been voted out of Springfield the shutting off of the street lights at midnight will not be such a hardship on a majority of the citizens as they will have nothing to keep them down town
after that hour.

Its too bad we have no holiday near so that the censoring department in Washington could send out another "bear" story to make us feel good.

Dispatches tell us that hotel and restaurant men in New York will encourage the eating of poultry and fish. We never saw anybody who needed much urging to eat fried chicken but there is not much encouragement in eating it when one costs about 75 cents.

The Carrollton Gazette carried a lost advertisement last week for a pair of quarter boots for a horse.
One might infer that men wore quarter boots in Greene county as well as horses.

If Mr. Creel would confine his efforts to plain censoring of the news instead of apparently trying to get his name into print as the official censor he would be much more popular with both editors and the reading public.

When the government began talking about increasing the tax on whiskey the distillers immediately raised the price a couple of dollars a gallon. The bootleggers likewise grasped the opportunity and now it is said, the price of a pint is one dollar instead of seventy-five cents.

German food experts say that a dead pig is better than a live one.
It depends, however, on how it dies.

In the fighting in Flanders both the allies and the Germans won and held their positions and probably the battle front is about where it was when the fighting began.

One can't help envying the hog these days. There is no talk of food conservation in his case.

A man who asks a girl to become his wife in these days is up against
it. If he marries her the government is likely to accuse him of marrying to escape military service and if he doesn't marry her he is likely to have a breach of promise suit on his hands.

A posse of men looking for an alleged lion found the animal's "nest"
along the side of the road. The dispatch did not say whether or not there were any lion eggs in the nest.

Judge Stell of Chicago recently sentenced a young woman in Chicago to the Bridewell for alienating
the affections of the husband of Mrs.
Emma Schofield. Judge Stell says that he is going to break up the affinity business in Chicago if he has to send both men and women offenders to the penitentiary. The judge has cut out a big job for himself and we fear he will depopulate Chicago if he carries out his threat.

OFFICERS OF U. S. NAVY POPULAR IN ENGLAND

Boysish Enthusiasm of the Men Enjoins Them To All with Whom They Come in Contact—Large Number of Destroyers in Port.

Base American flotillas in British Waters, Aug. —(Correspondence of the Associated Press)—It was like an old home week here the other day when an unusually large number of destroyers came into port and consequently a larger number of erstwhile middlebodies, now officers in Uncle Sam's navy, came ashore. Everybody said hello to everybody else. A Georgian dived out to a Texan, while the man from New York and the one from New England, could easily be spotted by their manner of speech. Many were former navy men, who had served for a brief period after being graduated from Annapolis, but who responded to the call when the United States came into the war.

"They were putting up a dummy battleship right under my office window in Union Square when I decided to come back," explained an ensign from New York. "Every time I looked out of my window I saw that ship getting bigger. When its masts topped the trees in the park I could not do any more work, so I just closed my desk and offered myself. And here I am and mighty glad of it. Hello Jack."

An old classmate from Boston interrupted to lead the New York ensign back to his school days.

"Reminds me of a lodge meeting," sang out a cheerful individual from Atlanta as he beamed on the crowd of familiar faces.

"It would be hard to find a more amiable, good natured crowd of young men anywhere in the world. God bless 'em," said one ensign. "Tomorrow they would go cheerfully to the duty of hunting the elusive periscope."

It is this almost boyhood enthusiasm among full-grown men that has endeared the Americans to everybody with whom they come in contact here. "Yanks" the villagers call them in affectionate admiration. One of the pleasant surprises for the younger officers from the classes from 1906 to 1911 occurred the other day when they met their teacher of English and marine law at Annapolis in the person of the American consul here. "He's got a pretty good line on all of us," said one of the former middlebodies, probably recalling an incident of boyhood mischief at school. The consul winked knowingly. "It's mighty fine to see so many of those youngsters again," mused the consul after he had finished shaking hands all around.

Why The Entente Will Re-State Its Peace Terms Next Month

By William English Walling, of the Vigilantes.

The British Government has twice indicated its willingness to accept the invitation of the new Russian Government to call a conference to re-state the peace terms of the Entente. And now we hear from Petrograd that this momentous conference is to occur before the end of August.

It is probable that the motive of Great Britain is not only to meet Russia half way, but also to formulate a program that will enable all the Entente Powers to combat more effectively the insidious pro-German peace propaganda—which has obtained a foothold not only in Russia, but in America, in Great Britain, in Italy, and even in France. It may be seen at a glance that the coming conference will aid immensely in disclosing the purely German tendency of this propaganda.

Two Chief Principles

Undoubtedly, the two chief international principles promulgated by the Entente in their last peace statement, which dates from January, were the demand for the "free economic development of all peoples" and the demand for a "guarantee of the land and sea frontiers of all peoples." Now the German imperialists have declared that they wish to ensure the application of these identical principles to Germany either by changes of frontiers in favor of Germany or by means of a partial control over conquered territories and the territories of neighbors and allies, and the top of the Entente note does not make it clear that the Entente did not intend to use the same method. So the August conference will make it clear that the Entente does not undertake to make all peoples safe by means of territorial readjustments alone, but that it will insist on territorial changes as a military guarantee wherever democracy also requires them. It will guarantee the safety of all peoples only as far as this can be done by the military and economic power of a league of democratic nations to enforce peace.

Even more rarely can the "free economic development" of a people be secured by territorial changes alone, but this aim also may be accomplished by territorial transfers in some instances. But if the democratic league of nations becomes an economic league—as it must, if it is to use economic weapons, or even if it is to hold together at all as a permanent international institution—it may be able effectively to guarantee a more and more free economic development of all peoples—using either its economic or its military power (or both) for this purpose.

Carried Back a Thousand Years

Other phrases used by the January note of the Entente seemed to suggest territorial changes opposed to the principles of democratic America and of democratic Russia. As Mr. Wilson has expressed them, the demand was made for "the restitution of provinces and territories formerly torn from the Allies by force or contrary to the wishes of their inhabitants." This phrase might seem to carry us back a thousand years, as the former German Chancellor von Buelow does in his "Imperial Germany." If read literally it would restore Poland in its maximum condition of two centuries ago, giving it a number of subject peoples, and including the port of Danzig, German for generations. It would restore to Italy the ancient Adriatic Empire of Venice. In fact, Balfour officially demanded (in his January note) the restoration of Italia Irredenta entire, altho Sonnino himself now limits Italy's terms to a demand for Italian "security" which would mean a far more modest and practicable territorial transfer. The phrase becomes just only if some such word as "recently" is substituted for "formerly." Among historically recent conquests are those of Danish Schleswig-Holstein (1864) and French Alsace-Lorraine (1870) also Bosnia and Herzegovina (1878 and 1909), and it is undoubtedly such conquests that the August Conference will denounce.

Not, the Entente demanded "the liberation from foreign domination" of a specific list of peoples. It would have been better to demand their liberation according to Lloyd George's criterion—"the wishes of the inhabitants." It is true that these wishes cannot be freely expressed as long as these peoples are under duress or expect to remain under duress in the future. But this does not invalidate the principle in the slightest degree. It merely increases the technical labor of applying it. Nobody doubts that the Roumanians of Hungary wish to be annexed to Roumania. But the precise degree of independence that would be desired by each of the Slav groups of Austria and Hungary, especially if Austria-Hungary becomes a democracy, is most questionable. The Entente note of January did not deal with this problem; the August conference will.

Solution of Problem

Nor did the Entente, in its January note, definitely declare for the internationalization of the Bosphorus and Dardanelles—with a sufficient territory to give military protection. Even if one or more nations are allotted the task of furnishing the international police, this is evidently the solution of the problem that will be adopted at next month's conference. The situation is similar as to Mesopotamia, Arabia, Syria and Palestine and the German colonies. Lloyd George has declared that Germany and Turkey have shown themselves unfit to govern these territories and that they should be ruled in accordance with the wishes of their inhabitants. It remains to declare that these wishes should be ascertained by an international tribunal established by the Entente, to which Germany also may be admitted, the only condition that a revolution shall have established a trustworthy and democratic government in that country.

Finally the Entente note demanded "all just compensation and indemnity due for losses suffered"—the claim to be more definitely stated, apparently, only at the peace conference. This reminds us too much of Germany's postponement of embarrassing problems to the peace conference. It should be specifically stated and doubtless it will be stated, that no claims are to be made for military expenditures such as those placed upon France by Bismarck in 1870 (altho this particular plunder should be repaid), nor as punishment for wrong done, but only for actual financial damage against international law and military usage. Moreover, only a small part—if any—of these indemnities could be financial, as financial indemnities would be extended over a long period and would prevent future economic development—to the damage not only of the nation thus wrought, but of the whole world. Indemnities will have to be chiefly if not wholly, in the form of the turning over of valuable assets. For example, ships or railway material wrongfully destroyed. And above all there are still territories so small that they cannot be independent (such as some islands) and territories inhabited so sparsely or by a people so undeniably backward that a plebiscite could not be the sole consideration governing their disposition. The surrender of these territories may also count as indemnities.

Some such terms as these are undoubtedly already in the minds of the leading statesmen of the Entente. They are approximately the terms America has long had in mind and will probably ensure, for the first time, the wholehearted support of Russia.

A complete statement, such as we may expect from the coming conference, will also place the pro-German pacifists everywhere on the defensive. The territorial readjustments above outlined are so obviously democratic and so clearly indispensable to permanent peace that the conscious tools and unconscious dupes of the German peace propaganda will be forced back on their main position, an immediate or early peace without regard to "the wishes of the inhabitants," a peace by negotiations based on the present military situation. All these propagandists admit that Germany is still undefeated; recently many have declared that she could not be defeated. Whatever the motive of each propagandist, the effects of the propaganda is always the same, to aid Germany to gain the fruits of victory and to avoid the results of impending defeat.

JIM SMITH—

A War-Time Portrait (By Charles Hanson Towne of the Vigilantes)

Jim Smith was never troubled by the war. He rather smiled at it, and simply said, "Well, some day everybody will be dead. And so why worry? What they scrappin' for?"

"It doesn't matter much who wins this row. They're all insane. * * * The Lusitania? Gee! If I was warned, I'd never go to sea. Belgium? Oh, what's the difference anyhow!"

And so he rambled on. A neutral?

Yes. Part pacifist, and part pro-German too— Tho to admit the latter would not do.

He realized that much, at least, I guess.

No issues bothered him! He smoked and drank. Went to the races, never gave a cent. For Red Cross work—but took his amusement. What matter if another steamer sank?

"I'm sick of readin' of this rotten war! What's at the Strand this week? A war film? Say, that ain't my kind of show."

Nothin' but guns. * * * No wonder I get sore.

"Well, let's go down to Luchow's. I'm all in. * * *

No Pilsener? What the devil do you mean? No Muenchner? Listen! Can you beat that, Gene?

I told you this war'd hit us. Make it gin!"

WAR CORRESPONDENT
BURIED IN FRANCE

M. Basset Victim of German Sharp-shooter — Impressive Ceremony Took Place at Village in Northern France.

With the British Armies in France Aug. — (Staff Correspondence of the Associated Press) — It was an event as impressive as unusual—the burial of a war correspondent today in a little village of northern France, close to the fighting line, where the drumming of the guns served as a rhythmic requiem chant. It was just the sort of funeral that would have appealed to the dramatic instinct of M. Serge Basset, who was a successful French playwright as well as correspondent, and who, when dying on the field two days before, had whispered that no death could be more beautiful. The burial was in keeping with that sentiment.

The British army, to which M. Basset was attached, paid him such honors as ordinarily are bestowed only upon someone of high military command, for all the correspondents permanently accredited at the British front have the status of officers of indeterminate rank. Upon the French tri-color draped about the coffin were pinned the emblems of the Legion of Honor and the Croix de Guerre, the latter with palms, having come as a posthumous tribute from the French republic. There were heaps of roses everywhere—roses of France—like the one M. Basset had thrust into his cap band an hour before he was killed.

The service began, not in the village church where it was intended, but in an impromptu chapel in the little salle de theatre nearby, for two gaping holes in the church wall and a litter of destruction within, told only too graphically that here, as elsewhere along the front, German guns had been registered upon the house of worship as a principal point for annihilating fire. The edifice were draped with French flags and more than half filled with French and British officers and the war correspondents of all the Allied nations including America. During the quieter moments of the brief service the dull thud of the guns and the occasional nearer crash of shells served as constant reminders that this death, this funeral scene, was but an infinitesimal incident in the never ceasing toll of war.

The service ended, there followed the journey to a little wood-grown cemetery. The body, borne by British soldiers, was placed not upon an empty gun carriage, but upon a quickly arranged 18-pounder field piece—a gun fresh taken from the firing front and soon to return to its work of helping to pound back the German lines. There was a large escort of infantry, a band, buglers, and a firing party of more than 200 rifles.

The funeral procession moved along narrow streets crowded with the entire population of the village, including the amazing French school children with ears so attuned to the clamorous clang and boom of war that peace will bring them strange misgivings. There had been many French and British funerals in the village but none so imposing in solemn pageantry as this.

It was a martial ceremony so intimate with the spirit of valor there could not have been a single note of sadness about it save for the presence of a weeping figure in black, for into the one of battle Madame Basset had come just a few moments before the services began.

At the grave the bugles sounded "The Last Post," the plaintive call of the night, similar in many respects to the "Taps" of America. The riflemen fired three volleys, and then the bugles broke into the more joyous notes of the "Reveille"—the awakening. And still from the sweeping circle of the near horizon came the unending drone of battle.

M. Basset had been "sniped" by a German sharpshooter, who had attempted also to shoot two companions and a British officer who heedlessly rushed to his assistance. Simultaneously the presence of the party in forward shell holes had been telephoned to the German guns and a hail of heavy missiles fell about them. The little group remained huddled together, however, until Basset died, and then the living made their escape by dodging from one bit of cover to another. It was not until night-fall that stretcher bearers were able to reach and bring back the body of the correspondent.

Our new stock of Winchester and Remington guns and rifles is now in. Call and look the line over and select your gun for fall and winter use. You can make the price in game in a few trips and have the sport without cost. Brady Bros.

URGES THAT JAPAN ENTER WAR.

Tokio, Aug. — Baron Yoshiro Sakakini, who visited the United States last year, is making a series of speeches throughout the provinces in favor of his country taking a more active part in the European war. He is urging that Japan put aside selfish interests and devote herself more wholeheartedly and thoroughly to the world conflict.

RESULTS OF ACT FELT

BY GERMAN MERCHANTS
Mexico City, Aug. — The workings of the trading with the enemy act already have begun to be felt by German merchants in Mexico according to business men here. It is said that certain German merchants have made overtures to merchants of other nationalities including Americans to allow shipments to be sent under the names of the latter and later transferred.

There will not be any August meeting of the Young Woman's Missionary Society of Centenary Church.

I SAY, BILL.

Where's Skinnay? Sick? Mumps? Gee I hope he ain't got 'em 'cause I ain't had 'em an' me an' him was playin' together yesterday an' if I get 'em I can't go to the Chautauqua an' pop give me a ticket a while ago an' I already put my name on it in ink an' I est gotto go or loose a dollar and a half. I feel kinda queer now an' say do you know how it feels whn anybody's ajoin' to get the mumps? Anyhow I got my ticket.

When pop come home fer dinner he was kinder hot under the collar — Oh, no, not at any of us — an' he give me a ticket — I knew he would — an' he told us he jest up an' told a store man down town where to head in 'cause the store man said he wasn't goin' to buy no tickets an' wasn't goin' this year 'cause the Chautauqua didn't bring the farmers down town so they could spend their money an' pop jest up an' told him that it was time for the store man to quit tryin' to get money out o' the farmers all the time an' begin helpin' the farmers fer the things they want 'cause the farmers is the whole thing now and they sure want the Chautauqua an' he told him he'd better go out there an' get acquainted with them farmers 'cause they's the boys what has got the dough an' pop he jest went right away an' got the tickets he subscribed fer an' then he hunted up another subscriber and got two nether tickets, he did, fer my cousins Bob an' Hank what live on a farm in Cracker's Bend an' then pop telephoned the pop, my uncle Bill, an' ast him o' Bob an' Hank could come in an' stay at our house an' go to the Chautauqua every day an' pop would give em them tickets fer a Christmas present an' Uncle Bill he says as how the thrashin' would be over an' as how they boys had work orlud hard an' they would be orful glad to come an' Uncle Bill he said he would send in some Rhode Island Reds and some cream an' I can jest smell fried chicken an' gravy an' ice cream, if I don't get the mumps.

You know my cousins what was here last fall an' Skinnay an' Busty called 'em hayseeds an' they jest went in an' beat Skinnay and Busty up good an' plenty an' Skinnay said he was jest jokin' an' he didn't mean nothin' at all at all 'cause he says he likes both o' my cousins an' pop he says they is good leather, jest the kind o' goods they makes real men out o'. An' my pop he is long on sayin' and spellin' big words right — says he could make we do the little words right, we would come across with the big ones all right — an' he told me I had to learn to say an' spell universal cop-sanguinity right 'fore he'd let me go at all 'cause why so many o' his chums couldn't say them words right an' he is going to learn me.

An' say, Bill, pop says that the Chautauqua is goin' to be a vacation school fer me an' I jest gotto go there every mornin' in time to hear all what Prof. Gilbert says an' that I gotto sit still an' listen to some o' the musics an' four or five speeches 'cause he's goin' to examine me in 'em an' mark me jest like teachers does 'cause it's time fer me to keep my eyes an' ears open an' he says I can jest have a bully time all the rest o' the days.

What's the matter? Oh, that aint nothin' — it aint no snake — it's jest a hairy worm off them walnut leaves up there, an' say you know what Mr. Gilbert told us last year that rain crows was the birds what eat hairy worms, well me an' pop he heard a rain crow up in that elm last Sunday mornin' an' we jest watched ter it an' purty soon sure enough it jest sailed as still like into this walnut tree an' got lost in the branches an' me an' pop jest kep' on lookin' an' 'fore long it lighted right where there was a big bunch o' them worms an' begin pickin' them up an' shearin' off their hairs and swallowed 'em, yes it did, an' pop made a wren box like Prof. Gilbert told us to an' put it up over there under the stickin' over part o' the porch an' the wrens come an' lived in it an' had a family afore the fourth o' July an' the young ones jest sneaked a way afore any of us seen 'em an' now they is another family in it, an' they jest squeals 'most like little pigs squealin' 'most all the time an' I jest bet there is a whole million o' 'em in there 'cause me an' pop watched the pop an' mam bird last Sunday a carryin' in worms into that box an' pop he says forty men couldn't eat all the worms them two birds took into that box in jest a little while.

An' say, Bill, Prof. Gilbert told us that our pet squirrels jest eat birds' eggs sometimes an' pop he didn't believe it at all an' one day when he come home mam told him that her an' sis was sittin' in the yard knittin' fer the Red Cross an' kind o' lookin' around an' all at once they spied our bob-tail bunnie an' he went right over to the robin's nest in the fork o' that elm up there an' picked up an egg in his front foot an' fooled with it a while an' jest dropped it on the ground an' then he did it agen, he did, an' when mam told pop about it pop jest said Gilbert was right an' their aint no water substractors or any other such snakes what would hurt a kitten out at Uncle Sam's park, an' I jest wish that Junior Vosseller, an' Bill Capps, an' Arthur French would come an' hear Prof. Gilbert tell all about things that grows 'cause we jest had the best time together one time out at the Chautauqua an' we had fried chicken an' ice cream an' angel food cake an' we all set an' eat tell we jest 'most bust an' they was some boys from the country there too an' they was jest dandy, I kinda forget their names, mebbe, Henry, or Hulett, or Megginson, or Hembrough or Black or some other name jest like that an' mebbe not.

Hudson Wins at Omaha, Tacoma, and Uniontown

150 Mile Race at Tacoma
First—Third—Fourth

Eleven cars started. Three Hudson Super-Six Specials were entered and all finished. Patterson first — Roades third — Malcolm fourth.

Patterson led at 50 miles, 100 miles, and finished a minute and twenty-three seconds ahead of the second car.

Roades and Malcolm each drove Hudson Super-Six Specials, which were stock cars they had converted into racers. They are professional drivers who enter and drive their cars independent of factory assistance.

Two Races at Omaha
First in one—Second in Other

Ralph Mulford in a Hudson Super-Six Special averaged 101.26 miles an hour in the 150-mile Championship event.

There was a field of 14 starters. Mulford made one tire change.

In the 50-mile race he finished second, 42 seconds behind a Hoskins Special.

Two tire changes in this event cost him first place.

Billy Taylor in a Hudson Super-Six Special finished fifth in both the 50 and 150-mile races.

At Uniontown
First in one—Second in three

The principal event at the Uniontown (Pa.) meet was run in three heats.

Ira Vail drove a Hudson Super-Six Special. He finished first in the 29-mile heat, second in the 10-mile, and second in the 50-mile heats.

A tire change cost him the 50-mile heat by one second.

A dealer's rebuilt Super-Six demonstrator driven by a local Hudson dealer finished 15 seconds behind the winner in the non-professional event. Another rebuilt Hudson finished fourth.

Super-Six Specials Defeat Rival Racers in Every July 4th Championship Event — More Proofs of Endurance.

Championship Speedway Races again reveal the mighty endurance of the Hudson Super-Six.

In the three July 4th events, Hudson endurance defeated the fastest cars known to racing.

In a field of 28 starters at Cincinnati, Memorial Day, the four Hudson Specials finished first in the Free-for-all; Second, Seventh and Ninth in the 250-Mile event.

At Chicago, Ralph Mulford on June 16th established the American Speedway records for 150 miles and for 200 miles at an average of 104 miles per hour.

Made Stock Car Records Last Year

Last year Super-Six stock cars and stock chassis made new and important records for endurance, power and speed. Those were non-competitive tests. They were made against the best times of other cars.

They included the fastest stock chassis mile—the 100-mile stock car record—the one-hour stock car record and the 24-hour stock chassis record. These were officially timed by the American Automobile association.

Then in addition to these, a seven passenger Hudson Super-Six Phaeton broke every transcontinental automobile record. It did it both ways in the only double, twice-across-America run ever attempted against time.

All Hudson records are the result of Hudson endurance.

Cars may be built lighter and have more power, weight considered, just as most of the racers are, but none have proved an equal degree of endurance.

That is why Hudsons win.

It is why so many professional race drivers have adopted Hudsons in their speedway races.

In the three July 4th races you will note some of the Hudsons were rebuilt stock cars. They were made suitable for racing because their owners had confidence in them to win prizes.

The cars were entered independent of any factory influence.

Race drivers know that endurance wins. They know they can rely on the Hudson Super-Six to endure.

You, Too, Can Rely on Hudson Endurance

In converting Hudson Super-Six stock cars into racers, these men made no change in the principle that accounts for Hudson endurance. They merely made such changes as can be made to any Hudson Super-Six. They did not have to do anything to increase the endurance quality of the cars. That quality is built into every Hudson Super-Six.

You, of course, are not interested in owning a racing car but when racing reveals a quality so important as that of endurance, as it does with the Hudson Super-Six, then you are interested in its performance.

The speedway shows, in a few miles, weaknesses that it might require thousands of miles of ordinary service to reveal. You are not interested so much in what the performance will be in a car you buy in its first few thousand miles.

You want to know what you can depend upon after the car has seen thousands of miles of service. Look at these records and you will see what you may expect of the Hudson Super-Six.

The speedway test of 150 miles is more trying than thousands of miles you will drive with your car.

You want to know what the car you buy now is likely to cost in maintenance. You want to know how much time it will be in the repair shop after a half season's use. Do not these proofs persuade you to buy a Hudson Super-Six? They should. 37,000 have already bought and they have added to these records their own experiences with the Hudson Super-Six.

There are eight body types on the Hudson Super-Six. The Phaeton 7-passenger car sells at $1650 at Detroit

R. T. CASSELL, Distributor

But anyhow, Bill, you an' Skinnay an' my two cousins will all go out together an' have more fun — of Skinnay don't get the mumps — Skinnay says he was jest jokin' when he called my cousins hayseeds, an' I kinder wish that David an' Farrell was home so they could go long 'cause they is good scouts even if they haint as big as us. An' anyhow them Chautauqua fellers wants all us boys and girls too to come out mornin' an' of they come good this time they will always get good things fer us kids an' sis says she is sure goin' to hear them show-cannin' an' cookin' women 'cause she went out to aunt Ma's, that's my uncle Bill's, my pop's brother's wife, an' helped her can beans that new way what is easy what they jest got out o' a book that come free from Pres. Wilson an' sis says it was a whole bushel o' fun to learn how an' she is goin' to hear them show-women all the time an' learn all she can about dress makin' an' cannin' an' sech 'cause she aint goin' to be no old maid not if she can help it, at all, at all.

An' pop he says his brother, my Uncle Bill, says the Chautauqua is jest right fer the farmers 'cause it comes round when the farmer is all tired out an' has enough time to rest a little, an' so has Mrs. Farmer an' the kids, an' so they goes to Uncle Sam's park an' gets a vacation, an' hears good music an' meets all their second cousins an' finds out things that is worth a lot o' money 'cause the farmers they can jest hop into their fivers an' come in a minute an' my uncle Bill an' lots o' farmers does it all the time an' my uncle Bill he keeps a lot of cows an' he says he sure is comin' in to hear Mr. Marple tell The Trail of the Lonesome Cow that sounds like a show at the Grand, ef he blows out two tires an' runs over a chicken er two 'cause Roy Potter told him Mr. Marple was a live wire an' a dandy talker an' most as funny as Bob Seeds an' knows more about cows and cream than anybody else, an' say Bill, you know what, I'm goin' to be a farmer an' keep cows an' be a governor like Governor Lowden who had his picters tacked on all the poles an' had a big picter in the Journal 'cause he's a farmer an' keeps cows an' I'll jest bust if I can't see him when he comes on the first Friday an' pop he says mebbe I'll have to be a long-distance gazer 'cause they'll be sech a big crowd it'll be hard to get close on to the Governor.

An' all our folks is goin' to see the Red Cross man what helped take care o' shot men in France 'cause pop found out he was a good talker an' told a lot o' things about the war an' showed us things the soldiers use an' we got to go early 'cause it's free Red Cross night an' everybody what joined the Red Cross — we all did — will go out to see Mr. Shaw an' that governor what used to live here 'cause every body knows the Red Cross is a orful good thing an' pop he belongs to two Red Crosses, yes he does, him an' Bill Camp joined one a long time ago when I was jest two weeks old an' pop teased mam an' most made her cry 'cause he said he was agoin' to name me Zerubbabel, you know my pop is great on sayin' an' spellin' big words right an' gee I'm glad they didn't name me that 'cause it's worse nor Skinnay's real name.

An' pop says we is all goin' to see the Army Y. M. C. A. man 'cause he was down in Texas with the soldiers and pop says our company is goin' right to the same spot where Mr. Willis helped in the Y. M. C. A. an' I'll jest bust ef I can't see that Injun Chief with the name what pop can't say right yet, an' the Honolulu singers and them minstrel singers an' my pop he says I gotto sit still and listen to Senator Kenyon, an' that Rabbi, an' that Welshman Evans, and Dr. Steiner, 'cause they will learn me a lot an' I'll jest bust ef I can't hear all them funny men Landon, Parlette, Beilharz an' Renick an' noboy better forget that Killies band either 'cause every body in Chicago is jest plum' crazy about those kilties what is there now.

An' Bill, I jest know the program better the feller what wrote it an' I'll jest betcha a million dollars that 'fore it's over we'll have a tent out there ef we can get one but pop says tent places is already most all taken 'cause mam an' sis says the music is all too good to miss an' you get it all for a one dollar and a half all the time ticket, or any whole day fer twenty-five cents. Where you goin'? Oh, that's your uncle in his auto. Vell don't forget to get yer ticket in' I'll jest bust ef me an' Skinnay gets the mumps.

GOOD GOVERNMENT.

The People Themselves Are to Blame if They Do Not Have It.

The story is told that at the time Massachusetts was considering the ratification of the federal constitution Samuel Adams, the noble pioneer of American independence, was wavering in his support. The mechanics and workmen of Boston called a meeting at the old Green Dragon tavern and passed resolutions earnestly urging that the constitution be ratified and adopted. Those resolutions they put into the hands of a brass founder to be delivered to Mr. Adams.

"How many were present when these resolutions were adopted?" asked Adams.

"More, sir, than the Green Dragon would hold," said the sturdy mechanic.

"And where were the rest?"

"In the street," replied the brass founder.

That casts a significant side light on that crucial period when we were engaged in the task of bringing strength out of feebleness and order out of chaos by establishing a national government. What could be more interesting than to see the mechanics of Boston solemnly considering and discussing the most remarkable document, as it has been called, that any body of men ever put forth? The same serious and constant consideration of matters of public concern by the same class of people is essential to every hour of the existence of the government.

It is time that the responsibility for bad men in office, for "invisible government," for venal and corrupt practices in public servants, be put upon those whose neglect of duty enables evil influences to control the election.

The better element is always in the majority in every community and can always control the situation if it desires to do so. When things get insupportably bad and the people are thoroughly aroused, how quickly are desirable changes brought about! But when the people seem to have disposed of the particular condition that thus arouses them they fall back into a state of indifference and let the sinister influences have the field again.

Truly, eternal vigilance is the price of good government. We cannot find or enjoy it through any other means. Our blessed old republic was not framed for laggards or cowards, but for brave men and women, ever and always alive to the duties and obligations that rest upon them as citizens.

Senator William E. Borah in Youth's Companion.

Ideas Are Dollars.

Some large business firms employ a man whose sole duty it is to read every trade journal, every technical paper or pamphlet and every magazine in order to get new ideas about the conduct of their business. Such information is laid each day before the heads of the various departments, who in turn pass it down the line to men under them and see that the new idea is tested. By this means each worker is kept in touch with what other men are doing in his particular line, and so his personal efficiency is increased. Almost everything can be done in a manner a little better than the present way, and modern business demands to know and practice the best. Ideas are dollars.

Making a Garden.

A garden should not be considered as a piece of wild nature nor plants regarded as architectural ornaments, for one must not do violence to the other. Above all must there be harmony. Otherwise the builder has labored in vain, for he has not made a picture that artists care to reproduce.

In garden building never imitate nature with intent to deceive, but where natural beauty already exists make use of it and add to it. Banks to be restrained often have large outcroppings rocks. Make use of them even if the remainder of the wall is of distinctly different material. Merely assist nature.

"Fourth of July" in March.

Fireworks on Independence day are denied the children and grown folks of Alaska for the simple reason that the July nights are almost as light as the days, and it does not pay to attempt pyrotechnic displays if there is no darkness to show them off by contrast. Consequently it has become the custom in many Alaskan cities, including Fairbanks, to hold a Fourth of July celebration on March 4, when the nights are still very long. Then there is abundant opportunity for displaying fireworks of every variety.

Finding One's Ideal Weight.

Dr. Harvey G. Beck of the University of Maryland has told a simple way to calculate what one ought to weigh. First, he said, put down 110; then subtract 5 feet from one's height and multiply the number of inches that remain by 5. Add this product to the original 110 and the sum is one's ideal weight.

SUMMER FEEDING FOR DAIRY CATTLE

Silage and Soiling Crops are the Best Pasture Supplements—University Man Says.

The Dairy Department of the University of Illinois makes the following suggestions: August and September are usually months in which it is difficult to produce milk economically. This is due in part to the hot weather and flies, but more so to the short, dry pastures and lack of other suitable feed conducive to an abundant flow of milk. There are several things which dairymen can do to help solve the feeding problem for this trying period. In the first place a succulent feed to take the place of the pasture should be provided.

Summer Silage
Summer silage will come nearer to filling the bill than anything we can feed when we take into consideration the high cost of feed and labor. The dairymen who did not have the foresight to provide enough silage will, of course, have to resort to some other feeds, such as soiling crops. Silage as a pasture supplement has advantages over soiling crops. For milk production silage is as efficient as soiling crops. In addition silage is usually cheaper and more convenient to handle. Soiling crops require more labor during the busy season, as they must be cut every day to prevent heating. To prevent the spoiling of silage during the hot weather the feeding should provide for removing at least 2 inches of silage from the surface daily. At this rate approximately 500 pounds of silage would be removed daily from a ten foot silo. Hence in building a silo for summer use, one or small diameter is advisable.

Soiling Crops
Soiling crops may be used to good advantage in case no silage is available. Some of the crops which furnish a good supply of green feed for use during August and September are corn, soybeans, cowpeas, millet, and the third crop of alfalfa. Corn is one of the most practical crops for use as green feed, since a large yield per acre may be secured. Soybeans may often be used for soiling but are not so palatable as some of the other crops mentioned and also tend to become woody when mature. Cowpeas are sometimes difficult to cure and under such conditions may be fed green corn. This crop is adapted to the central and southern parts of the state. Millet, while not the best of green feeds, is useful in the case of failure of another crop. As a green feed alfalfa is one of the best, but since for the good of the alfalfa plant it must be cut about a certain time, green alfalfa is advisable for a relatively short time at each cutting.

Grain Mixture
A grain mixture of bran and hominy feed, equal parts, might very well be fed in connection with either silage, soiling crops, or roots. At present prices ground oats alone is a great grain feed. Feed about 1 pound of grain to each 5 pounds of milk produced to the large breeds of cows and 1 pound of grain to 4 pounds of milk to small breeds of cows.

In short, a good way to feed dairy cows during late summer is to use green feeds if silage is not available, and feed a little grain in proportion to the amount of milk produced. Then if the pastures are very short feed all the cured legume hay, such as red clover or alfalfa, the cow will clean up twice a day.

Purchase Winter Feed Early
In view of the fact that so much of the alfalfa and clover was killed, many dairymen will have to purchase hay for winter feeding. August is usually a good time in which to lay in a supply of alfalfa or cowpea hay for the winter. Cotton seed meal and bran can usually be purchased to very good advantage during August and September for October delivery.

CAN! CAN! CAN! FOOD! FOOD! FOOD! WIN! WIN! WIN!

Can! Can! Can! Food! Food! Food! Win! Win!

Washington, D. C., Aug. 3.—President Wilson made an appeal to the women of the nation today to can all perishable fruits and vegetables possible. He fears the loss of a vast amount of food unless the housewives push the canning campaign. His appeal was contained in a letter to Secretary of Agriculture Houston. It follows in part:

"Every bushel of potatoes properly stored, every pound of vegetables put up for future use, every jar of fruit preserved, add that much to hasten the end of the conflict.

"We must aim to consume these things locally so far as possible and thus relieve the pressure on transportation agencies, freeing them for the more efficient handling of produce required for military purposes. What we cannot presently consume we must conserve.

Must Aid Marketing
"I very earnestly desire to commend your plans and to second your efforts to secure conservation of perishable food products. The patriotic farmers of the nation gave immediate and effective response to my appeal to increase production. Providence favored them and we have not only the prospect of increased crops of a number of staples but also the certainty of a large production of fruits and vegetables.

"But it is of the first importance that we take care of what has been raised and make it available for consumption. The task is of peculiar urgency with reference to our perishable farm products. It is essential not only that adequate measures be taken to secure their conservation but also that the department of agriculture redouble its efforts to assist producers in the matter of marketing.

Need Maximum Efficiency
"I am informed that in many sections the people already are canning and drying fruits and vegetables in large quantities. But in this hour of peril I am concerned, as I know you are, with the necessity of avoiding waste everywhere. To win we must have maximum efficiency in all directions. We cannot win without complete and effective concentration of all our efforts.

"We can all aid by increasing our consumption of perishable products and by so doing relieve the strain on our store of staples.

Burden on Housewives
"The service we are asking the people to render in this matter is a public service. Upon the housewife much of the burden of the task will fall. I join you in your appeal to the women of the nation, whether living in a city, town or country, to devote their time, so far as it may be feasible, to this very essential work.

"I am sure we may confidently rely upon the co-operation of the editors of the nation in disseminating necessary information."

The department of agriculture is being aided by the national volunteer committee on preserving of fruit and garden products. A D. Lasker of Lord and Thomas of Chicago is chairman.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Day have returned to their home in Urbana, Ill., after a visit with Jacksonville relatives.
